

This city. They reported a full gale in progress on Lake Superior, but so high on the beach was their ship that only the stern is being buffeted by the waves.

The Lake-Frugal was thought to have sunk off Au Sable light at midnight Tuesday. The ship however, drifted on westward for four miles and struck shore. Luckily the spot where it hit was not of the rocky character general to the vicinity.

Thirteen Saved from Wreck.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 23.—(AP)—Thirteen persons, including one woman, were taken off the grounded freighter N. J. Nelson of Detroit at noon today shortly after the vessel began showing signs of breaking up under the heavy seas which have been pounding it on the reef off Leanington, Ont., on Lake Erie. The rescue was effected by Canadian Coast Guards from Point Pelee under command of Capt. B. A. Benson.

The woman was Miss Alice Humphrey of Detroit, a stewardess.

The steel and sucker C. A. Cadwell, 121 feet long, was also grounded off Leanington. Although the waves were washing the Cadwell's steel sides, it was not believed to be in immediate danger. The Cadwell, used for hauling sand and gravel, was built in 1911. It carried a crew of 16 or 17 men.

Mrs. Frances Bryan, 43, housekeeper on a boat house used as a boat livery, 1,000 feet from shore at New Baltimore on Lake St. Clair, lost her life in the collapse of the structure today. No one else was in the boat house but unconfirmed reports said five other persons were marooned in other boat houses.

Airplane Believed Lost.

Menominee, Mich., Oct. 23.—(AP)—Searching parties were organized to look for an unidentified airplane reported down in Lake Michigan near Green Island shortly after noon today. Four Menominee persons said they saw a plane spouting smoke dive crazily and drop. It is believed the ship went down in the lake.

Benton Harbor, Mich., Oct. 23.—(Special).—Damage wrought by a two day storm which still raged today was estimated this afternoon at $200,000.

Waves 30 feet high lashing this shore endangered north and south piers and marooned Lighthouse Keeper Charles Grinnell in his quarters which he risked death to reach in the afternoon. He was taking food by two U. S. coast guardsmen tied together. Grinnell is an old timer, but he said this storm is the worst in thirty years. The St. Joseph river backed up today, overflowing banks and endangering adjacent property. Navigation is at a standstill. The Higman park water plants are out of commission. Mrs. Mabel Higman's $5,000 summer cottage and all furnishings vanished into the lake. She is the daughter of the late John Higman, founder of Higman park. The Higman Park inn sank into the waves this afternoon. Burgard Abel's beach house was tossed into the lake like a toy. A dozen other homes are menaced.

Shore Line Moves 50 Feet.

Four summer homes were smashed today. The shore line has changed 50 feet.

Shadowland, new $75,000 ballroom, was endangered.

Heavy seas cut into the banks the entire length of Berrien county. Five

EARLIEST SNOWSTORM IN MANY YEARS HITS ILLINOIS; CROPS SUFFER

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 23.—The earliest snow since 1916 fell and mild surges continued throughout the day. The snowfall extended over north central Illinois to Carlinville.

PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 23.—More than three inches of snow fell. The temperature dropped to 22 degrees.

URBANA, Ill., Oct. 23.—A snowstorm struck Champaign county, and the temperature, falling to 22 degrees, kept farmers from their work in the fields. There was little damage.

PAKA, Ill., Oct. 23.—Central Illinois was in the grip of the earliest blizzard known here in years. A gale from the north and northwest brought freezing temperatures, and a heavy rain that was followed by three inches of snow here. Late corn and garden crops were caught in the freeze.

HOOPESTON, Ill., Oct. 23.—The earliest snow in nearly half a century fell in this section of eastern Illinois. About a half inch of snow was recorded. The temperature dropped to 32 degrees at its lowest point.

KEWANEE, Ill., Oct. 23.—Breaking down electric transmission lines and trees still heavy with foliage, four and a half inches of snow fell in Henry county. F. H. White, United States weather bureau observer at Galva, said the snowfall was unusually heavy and early. The lowest temperature was 32 degrees.

hundred feet of pavement was ripped from the pumping station brick driveway. Workmen today removed dozens of small buildings.

There was a general exodus of beach dwellers to higher quarters today. Homeholders employed boats to remove possessions. Homes and hotels were endangered. Pine and Park streets, leading from the Hill boulevard, are closed. Pine being under water. Patrols continued placing huge cement bags. Wreckage, timbers, brick and trees covered the waterfront. An empty unidentified lifeboat was washed ashore.

WISCONSIN HARD HIT

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 23.—(Special).—Milwaukee and other lake shore cities tonight were counting the cost of the worst early season storm that has struck the great lakes section since 1913.

The government breakwater that protected Milwaukee's lake front from the full force of the storm lashed sea was considerably damaged. It was found today by Col. John Kingman, federal engineer, after an inspection tour. More than 450 feet of the breakwater foundation was washed out. In addition, about 150 feet of caissons on each side of the washed out sections are badly battered.

Park Drive Blocked.

Lincoln Memorial drive was not materially damaged, the board of park commissioners ascertained, but filling in the crisis protecting the drive was washed over the highway and it was not until this noon that motor traffic could be resumed. In some places bowlders weighing as much as 150 pounds were found to have been thrown over the crest and left 200 feet from the water's edge.

Docks and boat houses suffered the greatest damage. Oswald Jaeger, president of a bailing company, reported that his boat house on Donges bay was washed into the lake, carrying with it three boats. Damage to the floating clubhouse of the South Shore Yacht club was estimated today at $10,000.

New Lighthouse Damaged.

Capt. C. H. Hubbard, superintendent of lighthouse property, reported that the new lighthouse at the end of the government pier here was damaged by waves which mounted thirty feet. A tank on top of the crib 20 feet above the water was washed away.

The Goodrich line docks at Sheboygan were inundated and the Miller Lumber company piers were washed away. Part of the coast guard lookout station there was wrecked. At Two Rivers the government piers under construction were badly damaged and tons of rocks slipped into the lake. The city docks are also under water.

Mail and passenger plane service, which had been at a standstill for a full day, was partially resumed today.

Two Youths Believed Drowned.

Appleton, Wis., Oct. 23.—(Special).—Two Lawrence college sophomores, Ted Bolton and Carlton Roth, both 19 and of Appleton, are believed to have been drowned in Lake Winnebago last night when the boat in which they were riding was upset by storm tossed waves.

Several hundred fraternity brothers and classmates, college professors, and citizens today searched the shores for traces of the pair. Police, boats, and airplanes from Appleton, Neenah, Menasha, Oshkosh, and Fond du Lac were aiding in the search, but late today all efforts had been fruitless. Both of the boys are members of the Beta Sigma Phi fraternity and honor students at the college.

Bolton is the son of Dr. E. L. Bolton, a prominent Appleton physician. The boys were last seen about dusk, when a man on shore noted two frantically waving men standing in a drifting boat, three miles out in the lake.

Hundreds Marooned at Green Bay.

Green Bay, Wis., Oct. 23.—(AP).—Boats were called into service today to remove some residents of 200 homes in northeast Green Bay, whose houses were surrounded by two and a half to three feet of water following a rise of the East river during last night's storm, which did damage estimated at $150,000 in this vicinity.

Many of those being taken from their homes were suffering from cold after a night spent in houses with out heat, the water having flooded many basements.

South Broadway, the principal street in West Green Bay, was covered this morning with a foot of water which overflowed from the Fox river. The government lighthouse at Long Tail point was destroyed by pounding

ACT FOR BREAKWATER FOR CITY'S PROPERTY AFTER LAKE DAMAGE

With the city's only lake front property south of the Chicago river ruined by the lake storm of the last two days, Ald. C. A. Nance [7th.] and Ald. William A. Rowan [10th.], yesterday took steps to provide a breakwater to prevent further damage.

Much of the property, which lies between 75th and 79th streets, has been flooded by storms and high lake levels in recent months, and the equipment on Rainbow beach has been almost completely demolished.

The two aldermen called attention of the council committee on parks and playgrounds to the lack of a breakwater and pointed out that the property which is estimated to be worth several million dollars, is used as a playground by more than 150,000 south side residents. A subcommittee was appointed to consider the advisability of submitting a bond issue at the spring election to provide funds for the construction of a breakwater.

waves during the night. The loss was estimated at $15,000. Carl Witzman, keeper of the light for 31 years, left his post as the foundation of the house crumbled away. With a signal lantern he sought the highest place on the island and for three hours, with the storm beating down on him, signaled for help.

The tug Grilling, from a sheltered cove, saw his signal and went to the rescue. As the tug neared the island, Witzman put out in a small boat and after a battle with the elements managed to get alongside the tug and was hoisted aboard, weak from exhaustion.

Hunters Found.

Neenah, Wis., Oct. 23.—(Special).—Searching parties which hastily formed early today disbanded shortly after dawn when Arnold Runde and Clark Jenks, local men, returned to their Lake Poygan hunting lodge after a night spent on the marsh. The two, hunting ducks, were unable to return to shore after the day's hunt Tuesday because of the gale which swept the lake. They were chilled but otherwise little the worse for their experience.

Kenosha Home Undermined.

Kenosha, Wis., Oct. 23.—(Special).—Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Jensen, who live on the Lake Shore drive in Kenosha's Gold Coast section, were forced to abandon their home here today when the storm from the lake undermined the foundation. The lake washed away 400 feet of curbing on First avenue and undermined blocks of the avenue, so that it has been ordered closed to all traffic. A new breakwater in process of construction off the Gold Coast was practically demolished when 450 feet of it was washed away.

so great that the park commissioners called an emergency meeting yesterday and immediately started action to repair the havoc. A resolution was adopted authorizing advertisement for bids on an interlocking steel protecting wall along the lake front and a suggestion was made that jetties be constructed along the shore to prevent future damage.

A new bridge will be necessary to replace the present structure over the entrance to the lagoon. The old bridge was so badly damaged that park authorities ordered it kept closed to traffic.

The old two mile crib, off Chicago avenue, which was built in 1864, was all but demolished by the pounding of Tuesday night's waves, and repairs costing from $50,000 to $100,000 will be necessary. The breakwater around the crib was smashed by the force of the water and must be replaced.

South Shore Also Suffers.

Along the south shore the damage was estimated at $150,000 to $200,000, at the chemical plant was battered down.

the heaviest damage occurring between 184 and 19th streets, where the outer boulevard was closed on Tuesday when the waves began washing over it. The damage to this section alone was placed at $100,000 by park engineers last night. The drive was strewn with debris along its full length and the protecting wall was completely washed out.

Linn White, chief engineer of the south park board, said the drive may be opened tomorrow, work of clearing the debris having started yesterday afternoon. Because of the futility of previous attempt to check the waves in high storms, he proposed that the drive be protected by a row of bowlders out in the lake, to break the force of the water. Similar precautions at Jackson park have saved the coast line there from serious damage, he said.

At 180th street the waves picked up an entire house, occupied by John Bleut, a fisherman, and carried it out into the lake, where it bobbed along on the crest of the breakers for about 200 feet before going to pieces.

High Water Threatens Plant.

Chicago's suburbs from Waukegan to Michigan City were equally hard hit. At Waukegan, where the high water threatened to undermine the plant of the Johnson Motor company, 100 men worked all day building a seawall of sandbags and at nightfall had placed 2,000 bags along the lake front.

Minard Hulise, president of the Waukegan Chamber of Commerce, appealed to the citizens of Waukegan for help to save the factory and the population was prepared last night to go to the assistance of the workers if conditions required it. Five blasts on the whistle of the American Steel and Wire company plant being the signal for the volunteers to start work.

Switch tracks at the motor plant, the steel plant and the North Shore Coke and Chemical company were washed away, and a part of the breakwater at the chemical plant was battered down.

At the Great Lakes naval station the seaplane base and equipment shops were washed away with a loss of about $15,000. The seaplanes were saved.

North Chicago Docks Crumbling.

In North Chicago the Hussey coal docks were crumbling under the steady impact of the waves, and a loaded coal boat was threatened for a time, when the high sea snapped the steel cables which held it to the dock. Workmen labored all night Tuesday to save two water towers, but early yesterday the south tower toppled into the water. The base of sandbags, it was believed, would prevent the other from going out. The loss in North Chicago was placed at $50,000.

Glencoe's water supply was threatened for a time when the pipe line running up a 75 foot bluff from the pumping station was undermined, but it was bolstered with sandbags.

The situation in Evanston was regarded by Mayor Charles Bartlett as so serious that the city could not handle it. Outside help from the state and federal governments will be necessary if the shore is to be protected, he said.

Sheridan Road Blocked.

Sheridan road at Calvary cemetery will be blocked, probably for the entire winter, all but a narrow strip, wide enough for one automobile, having been torn out for a distance of 40 or 50 yards. Virtually all of the work on the new breakwater must be done over. Not a beach was left above water. Main street, Elliot and Lake Front parks were under water, with trees torn up by the wind or undermined by the waves.

Several feet of shore line were eaten away on the Northwestern university campus and the basement of Fisk hall was flooded.

In northern Indiana towns, the damage will run above three quarters of a million dollars. Lake roads at points were washed away entirely. Tugs were swept into the lake and docks and piers in the lake were crumbled. In all the lake towns boats were tied up, the breakers which beat over them making it impossible even to get out.

At Long Beach fifteen boats were washed out into the lake and swept away and nearly a mile of lake road pavement was swept.

At Michigan City the lake front park flooded and the breakwater was still under water. Churning of the water last night began to threaten the city's water supply, engineers fearing that the waves would clog the intake and prevent the pumping.

Gary Park Walls Collapsing.

The retaining walls of Gary's front park collapsed under the waves which were still beating against them last night and the walls of the breakwater were still under water. A grocery store on the lake front was washed out and carried out into the lake.

A trestle used in constructing the harbor in Buffalo, N. Y., was battered and bottled up the entrance to the harbor. Six boats seeking refuge there will not be able to leave until the breakers are opened.

The bath house in Lake Park at Hammond was tottering and not expected to survive the pounding of the waves. At Hammond the breakwater was damaged and the docks and piers at the Steel company and the Young Tube company were in danger.

The Calumet river was raised five feet higher than normal and hundreds of homes along its banks were flooded.

CHARGE WOMAN DOODY WITNESS WITH PERJURY

Slaying Case Due to Go to Jury Today.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Michael Dombay, robbery, sentenced to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge J. J. Sullivan.
James Martin, murder, sentenced to 10 years in the penitentiary; Fred Clark, robbery, sentenced to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge Harry B. Miller.
James Neal, murder, sentenced to life in the penitentiary by Judge D. J. Neenan.

KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

Lawyer William Scott Stewart yesterday wound up with a flourish his case of "Babyface" Willie Doody in the killing of Police Chief Charles J. Byrne. His trump card, a woman who testified that she saw Doody on the date of her own birth, which was shot to death, which probably will know by a very tight how efficacious her testimony was for him.

Accused of Perjury.

It is the contention of the prosecution attorneys that Mrs. Ryan had testified falsely in giving her birth certificate from the county clerk's office, showing that she was born on May 24. The point is very significant.

Mrs. Ryan, who is 27 years old, is a friend of Mrs. Margaret Burke, at whose home it is claimed Doody and Miss Maciejewski, his co-defendant, had lived for two weeks before the slaying. Mrs. Burke, her daughter, Dorothy Killeen, and Mrs. Ryan all testified that they were at the home on the evening of May 24, the night of the slaying. Mrs. Ryan, who is 27 years old, is a friend of Mrs. Margaret Burke, at whose home it is claimed Doody and Miss Maciejewski, his co-defendant, had lived for two weeks before the slaying. Mrs. Burke, her daughter, Dorothy Killeen, and Mrs. Ryan all testified that they were at the home on the evening of May 24, the night of the slaying.

Tells of Seeing Doody.

Partial corroboration of her testimony was given by 16 year old Dorothy Killeen, who told of coming home from a motion picture theater that night and finding Doody in the hall talking with Mrs. Ryan about a trip to the drug store for medicine. Mrs. Ryan was ill.

"How long do you know this was Mrs. Ryan?" asked the prosecutor, Ditchburne.

"Well, Mrs. Ryan reminded me of it, because it was her birthday and we were talking about giving a party to her."

"Q—Mrs. Ryan reminded you. Did you know it was her birthday that day?" A—"I don't know exactly. I had thought her birthday was some time earlier in the week—that it was already past, but we would have the party anyway."

Gives Glib Answers.

Mrs. Ryan had four sessions on the witness stand. Called originally by Defense Attorney Stewart, she told her story glibly, stating her facts with precision. She gave dates, dates, and dates without hesitation. On cross-examination by Ditchburne she was as positive, offering ready explanations as to how and why she recalled these things so distinctly. Then Ditchburne took up the matter of her natal date. He held in his hand a copy of the birth certificate, unknown to the witness.

Q—"You gave your name here as Margaret Ryan. Haven't you always been known as Corinne?" A—"Yes. But that was because I always thought that was my name. I found out different when I went to get married and got my baptismal certificate. My mother couldn't go with me when I was baptized, and she wanted me named Margaret Corinne. But my aunt had me named for her, Margaret Jessie, and she never told my mother."

Q—"You mean to tell us you have never known your own name?" A—"Yes, sir, until I was married, nine years ago."

Q—"Now, isn't it a fact that your birthday is not May 25 at all, but May 24?" A—"No, sir, it is not. My birthday is May 26."

On redirect examination by Stewart, she was asked what date she had always celebrated as her birthday. She again named May 25.

Recalled to Stand.

When recalled to the stand to be questioned as to having given a false address, Mrs. Ryan explained to Ditchburne:

"My parents are old, and I didn't want people going out there and scaring them."

"You knew when you testified that you were under oath, didn't you?" insisted Ditchburne.

Judge Kerner sustained an objection by Stewart, and the witness was dismissed. She left the stand wiping her eyes.

The warrant issued by Judge Kerner was served on her last night, and she will be arraigned before him this morning when court opens. After her arrest she was questioned by Ditchburne at the state's attorney's office and then locked up in the West Chicago avenue police station.

Eddie Maciejewski, or Eddie Mack, as he is more widely known, was recalled to the stand by the defense. He gave as his version of the killing of the police official, implying that he had been shot by his own man, Sgt.

MRS. L. R. CAPES DIES AS TRAIN CRUSHES AUTO

Hinsdale Woman Drives
Into Flyer's Path.

Mrs. Lawrence R. Capes of Hinsdale, daughter of the late Charles Howard Beasley, founder of Charles H. Beasley Co., machinists, 118 North Clinton street, was instantly killed yesterday when a west bound Burlington passenger train struck her automobile as she was crossing the tracks at Washington street in Hinsdale.

The machine was carried four blocks before the train could be halted. Mrs. Capes had stopped on the north side of the crossing on the west side of a truck driven by A. J. Corcoran for the International Harvester company to await the passing of a local train. As the local passed the crossing, the train struck her automobile, dropped her and started for his shanty.

Drives Into Train's Path.

Mrs. Capes plunged through the cloud of smoke flung by the local train directly into the path of the flyer. The train grazed the front of Corcoran's truck and crashed into the automobile, grinding it under the wheels as the brakes refused to take hold because of the driving sleet.

Parts of the machine were strewn along the road bed. Mrs. Capes' body was found in the wreckage when the train was stopped.

The body was taken to Ruchty Bros. undertaking rooms in Hinsdale, where an inquest will be held today. The train crew, Fred Boyer, engineer, and N. F. Westphal, fireman, both of Aurora, were ordered to attend. The only witness, other than the flagman and Corcoran, is Harry Theidel, Hinsdale haberdasher.

The crossing is not equipped with gates but has swinging signals on either side. These had stopped swinging when Mrs. Capes started to cross, Theidel said.

Mrs. Capes had a son, 11 years old. Her home was at 160 South County line, where Mrs. Charles H. Beasley, her mother, also lives. Mr. Capes is treasurer of the Charles H. Beasley company. Mrs. Capes was a granddaughter of the late G. P. A. Healy, internationally known portrait artist.

Two Deaths in County.

Sleet, rain, and wind resulted in two fatalities and numerous minor automobile accidents in Cook county. The two deaths raised the 1929 motor toll to 754. The victims:

Mrs. Gertrude Harper, 60 years old, 2500 Hillcock avenue. Killed and her grandson, Ralph Roy, 4 years old, injured probably fatally, when they were struck by an automobile at Archer and Mason avenues. William Robertson, 7307 Lafayette avenue, driver of the automobile, is being held.

Mrs. Clara Trush, 51 years old, 2623 Lawrence avenue. Died in the West-lake hospital of injuries received Tuesday night when the automobile in which she was riding, skidded and rolled 25 feet down an embankment at Belmont avenue and River road.

Her husband, Bruno Trush, was instantly killed and her sister, Mrs. W.

SAYS SCIENCE CAN CHANGE INDIAN TO NEGRO OR CAUCASIAN

New York, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Dr.

Xumburo Noguchi, Japanese biologist, who asserts that by electrical nutrition and glandular control he could change an Indian to a Negro or a Japanese to a Caucasian, returned today on the liner Pan America from Brazil, where he studied jungle inhabitants under a grant from the Japanese government.

Racial characteristics, he declared through an interpreter, are the result of a combination of glandular secretions and physical environment. On the basis of knowledge he already has acquired in an extensive world tour, he said, he could practically build an infant to order, halting its growth or stimulating it, fixing its stature, breadth of shoulder and other physical characteristics.

Such accomplishments would be possible, said he, through the use of ultraviolet rays and stimulation or diminution of glandular activity.

Dr. Noguchi, who is not related to the famous Dr. Hideo Noguchi, who died a martyr to science in Africa, is himself a tall man, heavily proportioned. He and his famous compatriot, he said, were classmates at a Japanese medical college years ago.

"Our big job," he said, "is to add to our store of this kind of knowledge until we can at will mold the human race closer to perfection physically, mentally and spiritually. The knowledge we seek should be of inestimable benefit in the eradication of crime, which, after all, is the result of improperly controlled glandular action."

Ryzell, was seriously injured. Her daughter, Elinor Trush, 22 years old, was flung clear of the car and escaped injury.

Adolph Neuman, 53 years old, 4437 Drexel boulevard, was seriously injured when he was struck by an automobile near his home. The driver, Charles Carlson, 437 East 1st street, told the police that the aged man became confused while crossing the street in the face of the wind and sleet and stopped in front of the car.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 23.—(AP)—Jackie Thompson, 5 year old boy who was kidnaped several weeks ago, was returned safely to his home here tonight. Police refused to give out information other than that he had been returned to his parents and that two men were under arrest. Jackie was kidnaped from in front of his home on Sept. 30.

BISHOP CAREY AID QUIZZED IN CIVIL SERVICE GRAFT

Confession Is Reported;
3 Cops Questioned.

Timothy Reeves Jr., secretary to Bishop Archibald Carey, colored member of the civil service commission, was reported last night to have confessed to Assistant State's Attorney George Lavin that he had accepted bribes from applicants for civil service posts.

Reeves, with three policemen, two of them colored, was questioned by Lavin, but the prosecutor refused to comment on the case. The three policemen were summoned after Lavin had been closeted with Reeves for several hours in a loop hotel and were taken to the state's attorney's office in the Criminal Court building.

Reported Go-Between.

The two colored policemen are Lieut. John Scott of the Stanton avenue station and John South of the Maxwell street station. Reeves, in his confession, is said to have named them as the go-betweens who collected the money from applicants for city positions and turned it over to him.

Prosecutor Lavin refused to confirm any of these reports, or to disclose the identity of the men being held, although he admitted that he had "a lot of people" in his office.

"I can't say a word until I have laid the case before State's Attorney Swanson," Lavin replied to all inquiries. He refused to say that Reeves had told how much money he had accepted.

Job Seeker Questioned.

Last night's activity in the bribe investigation, which started several weeks ago, began with questioning of Clarence Chinn, a colored applicant who took the policemen's examination recently. Chinn is alleged to have paid money to some one to have his name placed on the eligible list. When his name failed to appear, he was reported to have obtained a warrant for the arrest of the person to whom he paid the bribe and Sgt. Arthur Wentzel of the state's attorney's office went to his home on Fulton street last night to question him.

Chinn fled barefooted when Sgt. Wentzel arrived but was captured as he was leaving through a rear window of his home. He was taken to the loop hotel and later to the state's attorney's office and was grilled along with Reeves, Scott, South and Robert Massett, a white detective. Massett's connection with the case was not explained.

Reeves is said to have admitted that he took money from a number of applicants, some of whom sought appointment to civil service posts and some of whom wanted promotion.

ARRESTS REVEAL UNION GRIP ON COAL MERCHANTS

Agents' $40,000 Racket
Before Grand Jury.

Own power is worth $40,000 a year to George Barker, the grand jury learned yesterday after hearing how Barker took possession of the job of business agent of the coal teamsters' union.

Barker's latest exercise of his gun power—ordering the Marine Coal company to discontinue advertising coal at 50 cents a ton less than is charged by other dealers and enforcing his command by calling a strike of the company's drivers—resulted in a grand jury investigation and the prospects of a federal inquiry regarding alleged combinations in restraint of trade.

Fet in Two Prisons.

Barker's guns have put him into two penitentiaries—but he wasn't kept in them—so on the complaint of the Marine company Deputy Police Commissioner John Steg did two things: started a movement to return Barker to one penitentiary and gave police protection to the coal yard. The first produced no results yesterday, not even Barker's arrest, for he could not be found, but the second furnished the grand jury with a pretty story.

Roy Younger, 35 years old, 2058 West Van Buren street, another business agent of Barker's union; Charles Rickett, 35 years old, 3437 North Kedzie avenue, an official of the same union, and Gerald Ammons, 23 years old, 2325 Warren avenue, chauffeur for Younger, were arrested when they drove into the Marine company's yard. Younger, before being taken to the state's attorney's office, called off the strike ordered the day before by Barker. Then he and his associates were taken to the grand jury room and given immunity waivers to sign, which they did.

Tell of Barker's Deeds.

As repeated later, the statements of Younger and Rickett were as follows: "We're legitimate members of the union and came up from the ranks of the teamsters. About a year and a half ago Barker took possession of the union."

"He did so by searing and shooting James (Lefty) Flynn, who was the boss, but who is over 60 years old. First he and his gang tried to kidnap Flynn's children. Then, when Flynn went to his summer home at Brown's Lake, Wis., to protect his children, Barker shot him and told him if he ever came back to Chicago he would be killed and so would his whole family. Flynn never came back."

He Takes Command.

"At the next meeting of the union Barker and a bunch of fellows with shotguns came into the meeting and Barker said, 'Where does the business agent sit?' Some one pointed to a chair and Barker said, 'That's my place from now on; I'm boss here.' "He was boss, too, except during the time he was in the county jail and later when he was in prison. When he was arrested for murder Tom McElligott came into the union and took him place. He got out of the penitentiary right after McElligott was killed and he took his job back."

What the union men told about calling strikes on independent dealers Chief Investigator Roche wouldn't say but he did make the statement that Barker made $40,000 a year. Assistant State's Attorney George Lavin said that as a result of the disclosures of the unionists he would call several independent coal dealers before the grand jury today, including James C. Hoskins, president of the Marine company.

Keeps Price of Coal Up.

A number of coal men were at the prosecutor's office yesterday and deposed Barker the bidding of the Coal Dealers' association. They said that if it were not for Barker they could sell coal at $4.50 a ton, whereas the association price is $7.50. They told the officials there are 240 members of the association, who pay dues of $1,000 a year each.

Attorney Joseph B. Fleming, in behalf of the Coal Dealers' association, said its purposes are to protect the public, and incidentally to protect themselves against dealers who might undersell them by giving short weight. He denied there was any intention of trying to force the independents into the association.

"Barker is not acting in the interest of the association," Fleming said, "but when Barker became boss of the union the association had to reckon with him. They are not responsible for him or his deeds."

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 23.—(Special.)

The Philadelphia Grand Opera company opened the local opera season tonight at the Academy of Music before a large audience. The opera was "Carmen," the most difficult of individual roles being assumed by Sophie Braslav.

The performance was the first under the affiliation of the opera company and the Curtis Institute of Music. It marked the American debut of the famous Polish conductor, Emil Mlynarski.

Ralph Errolle was an excellent Don José, both vocally and dramatically. The important rôle of Micaela was taken by Charlotte Simons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. D. Simons, 5600 East 82nd avenue, Chicago. Miss Simons has a beautiful, clear soprano voice and a charming stage presence, being a typical Micaela.

BARE CLEANERS' UNION PLAN TO SEIZE INDUSTRY

Leaders Form Company; War Predicted.

The men who control all the unions of workers in the cleaning and dyeing industry of Chicago are preparing to go into the cleaning and dyeing business, it was revealed last night. They are union heads and business agents who can give orders to the city's 12,000 small tailors.

The Employers' Association of Chicago, following an investigation, said that the union leaders are out to compete with the men who at present conduct the industry in the city, to drive them out of business and gobble it all up themselves.

In a word, the association said these men are out to create a cleaning and dyeing monopoly in Chicago.

Capitalized For $1,000,000.

Super Method Cleaners, Inc., is the name of the company to be operated and directed by labor leaders who heretofore have always represented labor as opposed to capital, according to the Employers' association. The new concern was recently incorporated under the laws of Delaware. Its capital stock is $1,000,000, and its first board of directors is as follows:

Ben A. Abrams, 934 Winona avenue, president of the Cleaners, Dyers and Pressers union, Local No. 17742, A. F. of L.

Leah A. Albert, 2542 Sheridan road, president of the real estate concern bearing his name at 180 North Michigan avenue.

Sam Wagner, 7256 Aberdeen street, business agent of Abrams' union.

Charles Speloff, 6445 North Irving avenue.

Patrick Berrell, 115 Merrill avenue, Park Ridge. Berrell is business agent of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Local 765, A. F. of L., and the man who controls the Laundry and

BOARD OF EDUCATION ATTORNEY DEMANDS SHOWDOWN ON JOB

James Todd, attorney for the board of education, demanded a showdown on his status as a "figurehead" in its legal department at yesterday's meeting of the board. During the long quarrel between Mr. Todd and Frank Righelmer, the board's special attorney, the body has frequently upheld Mr. Righelmer and ignored Mr. Todd's recommendations.

"From now on I am going to be the attorney for the board of education," Mr. Todd said. "I shall conduct its condemnation suits. I am no longer going to be a rubber stamp for the sales and judgments I know nothing about."

He criticized the board for ignoring his recommendation that the legal department's pay roll be cut $50,000 annually, which would necessitate cutting Mr. Righelmer.

In 1925, according to Mr. Todd, the school board paid $71,300 for the square block site of the Sayre school. The 17 acre site of the Shriners' home for crippled children nearby was bought for only $41,000, he said. Mr. Righelmer retorted that the Shriners were conceded a special price by the Rutherford estate.

An opinion on Mr. Todd's tenure by a disinterested attorney is expected soon.

Dye House Chauffeurs, Drivers and Helpers union, a post left vacant when John Clay was shot to death with machine guns in the union headquarters at 629 South Ashland avenue on Nov. 16, 1928.

These men, according to the Employers' association, are now building their $1,000,000 plant, nearly a block square, at the northeast corner of Tripp avenue and Diversey parkway, and they expect to be in operation by Jan. 1.

Predict Chaos in Industry.

Officials of the Master Cleaners and Dyers' association, controlled by ten of the largest cleaners and dyers in the city, have known about the move by Abrams and his associates for months. They anticipate that the entrance of this company into the field will again throw the industry into chaos in the city. It was pointed out that the union men, when they start operating, will be in direct competition with independent cleaning and dyeing concerns now under the protection of two of the city's most powerful gangs.

These two independents are Morris Becker, running under the protection of Alphonse Capone, and the Central Cleaners and Dyers, operated by B. H. Kornick, at 2705-9 Fullerton avenue, with George (Bugs) Moran and his north side gang as protectors.

Both the Employers' association and the Master Cleaners organization predict war, with bombings and acid pourings, destruction of property and clothing, sluggings and killings, when the union leaders start their enterprise. For the Master Cleaners and Dyers' association, it promises to be a struggle of life and death, according to the Employers' association.

Union Men Call on Tailors.

"Information obtained from reliable sources," said an official of the Employers' association, "is that the 12,000 small tailor shops operating in Chicago are being called upon to buy stock in the Super Method Cleaners, Inc., whose heads are in turn union officials controlling the inside workers of the industry, together with the drivers who pick up the bundles from these shops to be cleaned and dyed."

"It is fair to assume that this corporation with its present directors has a perfect setup to control within a short time the majority of the cleaning and dyeing in the Chicago area."

There was some speculation yesterday as to whether the formation of the new corporation was a move by the union men and racketeers to re-establish the old racketeer price in Chicago. Prices before the customers started sending their clothing out of the city to be cleaned ranged from $1.75 up for a man's suit.

Prices Drop in Few Months. These prices in recent months, due to out of town competition, dropped in most of Chicago's plants to the point where men's suits are now cleaned for $1 and women's dresses at about the same ratio of reduction.

Capone and his gangsters entered the cleaning and dyeing field when Becker, following demands from racketeers, sold his business of years standing and organized anew with Capone on his board of directors for self-protection. Then Kornick, the second independent, took "Bugs" Moran and his men in, according to the investigators.

Miss Rasche said the purse contained valuable papers. Friends assured her they would make an attempt to recover it tomorrow.

AS A WIT HE'S WET, WIFE SAYS; ASKS A DIVORCE

Jaudent Balcum, 6149 Bishop street, a chief of French training, considers himself a wit by virtue of his Gascon ancestry, but in his wife's bill for divorce, filed in the superior court yesterday, he is declared to be a bore. The bill, drawn by Attorney Victor Frohlich, charges that Balcum spends all his spare time in making various liquors and mixing drinks.

Mrs. Agnes Balcum says that she has no objection to his hobby, even though its pursuance has frequently resulted in intoxication, but she protests strongly against the names which he bestows on his mixtures and his insistence that she laugh at the oft repeated quips as each concoction is offered to a guest.

"Here's my whiskeycocktail," Balcum will say to a guest, according to the bill. "I call it that because I give you a whiskeycocktail to dust yourself off after you pick yourself up. And here's the coroner's cocktail. One drink find you meet the coroner. And then I have the nightcap, but you have to drink that in bed so you won't get hurt when you fall."

Balcum never seemed to realize that he was repeating himself, his wife declared. When she refused to play her part and join in the general laughter Balcum is alleged to have beaten her.

PENCIL JUDICIAL BALLOT CLEARLY, DEMOCRATS ASK

Help Voters to Guard

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Democratic headquarters sought to convert the "short pencil" evil into a virtue by a communique urging voters to guard against later change.

The managers declared these suggestions are being sent to party workers with a view of discouraging the scrupulous scratching of crosses on the ballot and also in the square in front of each candidate's name on election day.

Senator Deneen expects to return to Washington today for the voting on tariff schedules. He said yesterday he does not contemplate issuing a statement on the issues of the campaign, as announced at headquarters through what was declared to be a misunderstanding. SKETCHES OF JUDICIAL CANDIDATES

This is the fifth installment of sketches of candidates in the Cook county judicial election of Nov. 5. Following the precedent of the Chicago Bar association, The Tribune presents the nominees in alphabetical order, first those for the Superior court and then, at the conclusion of the series, those for the vacancies in the Circuit court.

HOPKINS LONG A JUDGE

Judge Jacob H. Hopkins, a veteran of six years' service in the Municipal court and twelve years in the Superior court, is one of the regular Democratic nominees for the latter bench. He ran sixth in the bar primary, receiving 2,422 votes.

"Well qualified" was the verdict of the Chicago Bar association in its most recent report. In the bar primaries of that organization, Hopkins in the past the candidate has run well up toward the top. In the primary of 1923 he ran fourth in a large field, receiving a total of 2,052 votes.

Judge Hopkins was born at De Kalb, Ill., and is a graduate of Knox college and the Union College of Law. Soon after his election to the city of Chicago in 1919 he became the first judge of the Municipal court. Later, upon the creation of the Court of Domestic Relations, he was placed in charge of that branch. In each of these instances he was credited with much side story of why the Democrats refused to enter into a coalition arrangement with the Snow-Barrett-Crowe-Galpin organization, but instead hooked up with the Deneen faction.

Senator Deneen expects to return to Washington today for the voting on tariff schedules. He said yesterday he does not contemplate issuing a statement on the issues of the campaign, as announced at headquarters through what was declared to be a misunderstanding. As to whether he will appear on the platform during the final week, the senator says this will depend upon the tariff situation at Washington.

Republican headquarters announced that a meeting of German-Americans headed by Herman H. Wollenberger and held at the Atlantic hotel, had endorsed all five candidates on the Republican ticket, and in addition Judges Robert E. Gentzel, Oscar Hebel, and Harry B. Miller, Republicans who are running on the Democratic ticket, and Edward J. Hess and George E. Dierksen on the People's ticket.

At noon today A. J. Cermak, Democratic county chairman, is to appear before the City club to discuss the inof the work that made these specialized courts patterns that have been followed in other cities of the country. The judge lives at the Auditorium hotel.

HUEBSCH STANDS PAT

Arthur A. Huebsch, state senator from the Seventh or country town district of Cook county, is one of the three Superior court nominees left on the Republican ticket when the sitting judges withdrew. He is 45 years old and has been engaged in the general practice of law in Chicago since 1915. The character of his practice is municipal law, chancery, probate, tort and criminal cases.

He was president of the village of Brookfield from 1925 to 1927 and was elected to the senate for a four year term in 1926. The Chicago Bar association pointed out in its recent report that Huebsch formerly was on the payroll of the drainage board during the scandal period, but continued as follows:

"The committee regards Mr. Huebsch as qualified, notwithstanding the deserved criticism of his professional conduct in connection with his employment by the sanitary district of Chicago, the committee having taken into consideration his education, character, experience, poise and general reputation."

In last week's bar primary Senator Huebsch received 609 votes, landing in thirty-fourth place with twenty to be elected.

He has had a wide and active professional experience, said the recent report of the Chicago Bar association. "He is qualified for the office of judge of the Superior court."

In the bar primary last week Attorney Isaac was among the twenty winners. He won nineteenth place with 1,595 votes.

ISAACS AMONG TWENTY

Martin J. Isaacs is a regular Democratic nominee on the Democratic ticket, an honor that was his once before in 1928. He was born in Memphis and was graduated from the Chicago College of Law, the law department of Lake Forest university, and is now a member of the firm of Silber, Martin J. Isaacs, Silber & [Wallinger Photo.] Woley. He has been a master in chancery of the Superior court for seventeen years.

"He has had a wide and active professional experience," said the recent report of the Chicago Bar association. "He is qualified for the office of judge of the Superior court."

JOAN FALLS IN FAINT AS SHE LEAVES STAND

If she hadn't put an abrupt stop to her own trial in Judge Joseph David's court yesterday afternoon, Joan La Costa, former auto racing driver, might have learned last night what disposition the jury proposed to make of the charge against her of attempted robbery and assault. As she stepped off the witness stand after cross-examination by Assistant State Attorney Charles A. Bellows, she fell forward in a faint.

"Take her out! Take her out!" shouted Judge David, who had been exasperated by other events during the day. "What kind of a court am I running here?"

Michael Romano, attorney for Miss

La Costa, and her sister, Mrs. Jeannette Johnson of Memphis, rushed to her aid. With the help of bailiffs she was carried into an anteroom and revived. Her velvet dress and silk stockings carried long rents from her contact with a desk as she fell.

"This is awful," she moaned again and again as she regained consciousness. The slim, redheaded little racing driver had finished telling the jury the main chapters of her life prior to her arrest at the Chicago Beach hotel a couple of weeks ago. She told of her marriage at the age of 15, of her subsequent divorce, and of a second marriage in Chicago several years ago. Then she related how she had taken up racing automobiles, her avocation leading to an estrangement between her husband and herself which resulted in a second divorce.

Tells of Hotel Visit. After a racing career of the last few years she had taken up aviation, when she had a nervous breakdown, she continued. Her money was gone and her health broken when she decided to appeal to Mrs. Rebecca Bobbe of the Chicago Beach hotel, whom she knew only through her brother-in-law, Hyman Bobbe, as a wealthy philanthropist.

"Did you have this toy pistol and this bottle of chloroform with you when you called on Mrs. Bobbe?" Romano asked her. "I did. The pistol I had had for some time. I used it as a cigarette case."

"What were you going to do with the chloroform?" "I was going to take it," she replied in a low voice, hanging her head.

Never Intended to Rob. "Did you intend to rob Mrs. Bobbe?" "I did not. When I stepped inside, I said to her, 'Mrs. Bobbe, I want to appeal to you. I need money.' And I guess she thought I meant to rob her, and screamed. Then we struggled, and I was arrested."

Closing arguments will be made in the case this morning. It is understood Miss La Costa refused an offer of a year's probation, preferring to proceed with her defense in an effort to win complete vindication for herself.

PANTAGES CASE JUROR STRICKEN AND IS REMOVED

Night Session Ordered to Speed Up Trial.

BULLETIN.
Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Eunice Pringle made a blanket denial of the principal contradictory testimony of defense witnesses late today as she appeared a second time in the trial of Alexander Pantages.

BY GEORGE SHAFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Sudden removal of Juror Harvey Conkling, elderly shopkeeper from Elmonte, Cal., threw the trial of Alexander Pantages into an excited recess this afternoon. Judge Charles Fricke replaced the missing juror with a woman alternate at a hurried conference with District Attorney Byron Pitts and defense counsel, and court reconvened with Mrs. William Ingles, housewife, in Conkling's vacated place. Mrs. Ingles had sat as alternate juror since the sensational trial began Aug. 2.

Conkling's removal was occasioned by a strange collapse, due seemingly to the 95 degree heat which reigned in the courtroom for three successive days, and the strain and excitement attendant on the hard fought trial. As realigned the jury consists of five men and seven women, nearly all in middle age.

Night Session Ordered.

As Eunice Pringle, the 17 year old girl who charges Pantages attacked her in an office room in his building last August, took the stand for rebuttal testimony late today the court

POLICEMEN ASSIGNED TO AVIATION SERVICE IN NEW YORK CITY

New York, Oct. 23.—[Special.]—The proposed air service section of the police department emerged today from the abstract stage with the assignment of nine patrolmen to training service at Roosevelt field and the appointment of Rodman Wamsamaker II, as special aid to the commissioner in charge of flying personnel.

The existence of a private fund with which three airplanes will be purchased and delivered in order that the "flying cops" may be in active service within a month, also was disclosed. The nine patrolmen who will begin their training have had flying experience and one is a veteran air "barnstormer" of post-war days who has had more than 500 hours in the air as a pilot without an accident, according to the commissioner.

announced a night session would be held to expedite matters.

Mrs. Pringle, her mother, her father, and two police officers likewise appeared as prosecution rebuttal witnesses. Mrs. Pringle categorically denied the entire story which Pantages swore to yesterday, in which he accused the slight looking girl of disarranging his clothing.

The parents swore that their daughter was home last Aug. 7, a night on which defense witnesses pictured her as trying to see Pantages in his office. Police Officers Griffin and Casier insisted that Pantages gave them a statement on Aug. 9 which the defendant yesterday repudiated.

Only four witnesses remain to be heard in brief rebuttal testimony tomorrow. Three are for the defense. Defense and prosecution then each will take four hours and a half for oral arguments to the jury. The case should go to the jury Saturday.

Defense Counsel W. I. Gilbert rested the defense case shortly after Pantages left the stand this morning, concluding his testimony.

Prosecutor Pitts at once took the helm of events and put on a succession of witnesses who uttered denials of portions of testimony which had been introduced by witnesses for Pantages.

Two of the state witnesses were Dr. Ray Nesmith and Nick Dunaway. Both flatly contradicted witness Garland Biffle, who now is awaiting hearing on a perjury charge.

Both Biffle and Mrs. Biffle testified last week for Pantages that Dunaway and Miss Pringle went to the Pantages building together last Aug. 9 and engaged in a conversation in which they threatened to "make Pantages sorry" if he did not book an act in which the girl danced and Dunaway directed.

Dr. Nesmith contradicted this by swearing that Dunaway was in the Bryson building, a considerable distance away from the Pantages building, at 3:30 on Aug. 9, the hour and place named by the Biffles. Dunaway placed himself in the Bryson building also.

But with Dunaway on the stand, Defense Attorney Gilbert drew blood also. He succeeded in compelling the district attorney to relinquish a photograph of Miss Pringle, clad in dancing skirt, which the girl had given to Dunaway and inscribed: "To Nick Dunaway, the man to whom I owe everything."

Gilbert put the photo in evidence proudly and laid stress on his oft mentioned willingness to introduce other evidences of an asserted close relationship between Miss Pringle and Dunaway. Joseph H. Heard, junior partner in an optical firm in the Pantages building, gave testimony as a state's rebuttal witness which conflicted with previous details given by his father and partner, C. H. Heard. The younger Heard said that Pantages did not look well groomed and had his coat off when he came out of a little side room where he had been with Miss Pringle.

Deputy District Attorney Harold Jones also contradicted the elder Heard. Jones testified he took a statement from C. H. Heard several weeks before the present trial, and that Heard said, "I do not know anything about the Pantages case. My son is the one who knows about it."

The defense rested this morning shortly after Pitts permitted the per-spiring gray haired defendant to leave the witness box on cross examination. Pitts insisted Pantages explain a statement which, according to two police officers, the millionaire gave them shortly after he was arrested Aug. 9. Pantages declared that Lieut. Robert Griffin and Officer George Casier "were mistaken or else made up the statement," when Pitts read from a typewritten report.

When beauty is at stake ...take the advice of no one but a trained beauty expert

THERE is only one person qualified to recommend your home beauty treatments—and that is the professional expert who tries out approved methods on thousands of clients, who knows not only what is suited to one individual but what is best for your type.

Today, in every great city—all over the world—skilled beauty specialists recommend Palmolive Soap. They recommend it because they use it in salon treatments, in their own homes... and it produces results that other soaps do not.

"Avoid the harsh effects of soaps not made exclusively of these oils," says Madame Bertha Jacobson, of London. "I urge my clients to use no soap other than Palmolive."

"Its gentle action cleans the pores," says Persl, of Vienna and Budapest, whose house has served the aristocracy for over 100 years.

These are typical statements from the salons of 17,648 of the world's experts! They explain why Palmolive Soap is the choice of those whose business it is to know the best methods of facial care. They explain, too, why millions of women—all over the world—use this bland, gentle olive and palm oil soap for the bath as well as the face.

For it costs so little. No more than... indeed, not even as much as... ordinary soaps. Yet it represents 120 combined years of soap study. And the results it brings are evidenced in lovely, fresh complexions the world over.

ROBERT SCHOLES, FORMER ILLINOIS SPEAKER, IS DEAD

Veteran Representative Ill
Long Time.

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Representative Robert Scholes, 63 years old, twice speaker of the house of representatives of Illinois, and long a leader in Republican state politics, died at his home this afternoon after an illness of three years.

Representative Scholes succumbed to a complication of the heart ailment which had kept him virtually bedridden for the last year and pneumonia, which developed recently.

Mr. Scholes took the oath as a member of the house last January while ill at his home, Speaker David Danahy and a committee of legislators coming to Peoria from Springfield to administer it. Since his illness Mr. Scholes has been in Springfield only once, in April, when he went there to vote in support of the old age pension bill.

Representative Scholes was born in Peoria Dec. 8, 1866, the son of David and Anna Scholes. He was admitted to the bar in November, 1899.

In 1904 he was elected state's attorney of Peoria county, serving for six years. He then retired to private law practice and first ran for the legislature in 1916. He was elected speaker of the house in January, 1927, and was re-elected in January, 1928.

Mr. Scholes was married thirty-five years ago to Ida May Partridge, who survives, with one daughter, Mrs. Jessie Morris of Peoria. Also surviving are his mother, Mrs. Agnes Stock, and one grandchild, Betty Norris of Peoria.

New York, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Referee William P. Burr today directed Frances Goodrich Van Loon, actress and wife of Hendrik Willem Van Loon, author, to file findings in her suit for divorce—a preliminary step to the granting of a decree.

His action followed testimony before him that Van Loon is living in Holland with Helen Criswell, his second wife, from whom he was divorced before he married Miss Goodrich. The findings are to be filed within ten days. Mr. Van Loon did not defend the suit.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Deputy District Attorney Daniel Beecher today disclosed that subpoenas have been issued for canceled checks, ledgers, and bank account records of the Rev. One bank account which is to be investigated by the grand jury tomorrow, Beecher said, is that carried under the names "Elizabeth and Ruth Johnson" and carrying a balance of $100,000 at times.

POLICE RADIO TO BE READY DEC. 1, RUSSELL SAYS

The police department's radio system will be in operation by Dec. 1, placing every resident within a few seconds of police assistance, Commissioner Russell announced last night over the microphone at the radio show at the Coliseum. The commissioner's talk was one of the features at the show's "Police Radio Night."

"Early this year the department experimented with an ordinary broadcast wave length to demonstrate the value of radio in police work," said Commissioner Russell. "The experiment [with W-G-N, THE TRIBUNE'S station] proved so successful that the council appropriated funds for the building of our three stations and equipping and for reception in 140 automobiles used for patrolling the city. We are confident from our recent experiences that the use of the radio will prove a crime deterrent."

The three low wave length broadcast stations will be located in the three principal geographic divisions of Chicago, Russell explained. Reports made to the central police office will reach the squads operating in the district from which the crime flash came in five seconds.

Then Hupmobile planned a great expansion program, bought a modern manufacturing plant in Cleveland and a great body plant, installed the latest machinery, ramps, automatic conveyors, and everything known to reduce manufacturing cost to the minimum. HELP FARMER OR HE'LL HELP SELF, LEGGE'S WARNING

Radicalism Can Be Worse,
He Tells Industry.

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

Alexander Legge, chairman of the federal farm board, last night warned 950 industrialists who had just finished a $10 a plate dinner that unless his organization was able to relieve agricultural distress the farmers would be goaded to more radical measures.

His address, made in the Palmer house before the sixth conference of major industries, sponsored by the University of Chicago, the Institute of American Meat Packers, and nineteen other associations of business men, took the form of answers to questions which had been propounded to the farm board.

It was phrased in homely terms. The board, Mr. Legge said, had been receiving commiseration over the "panning that we got from the senators down in Washington."

A Warning to Business Men.
"There was nothing to that," he continued. "You can't blame the farmers for backing radical blocs. Those blocs represent distress at home. If we remove the distress we remove the radicalism. If we don't, we'll see radicalism in the future that is going to be worse than that we've had in the past."

After asking himself the question: What is the farm problem? Mr. Legge said:

"Agriculture has been lost in the shuffle. Nobody has ever done much for the farmer. One of our statisticians has discovered that of all the recorded gifts and donations, sev-

FOOT HURT ON STAGE, MAE MURRAY CLAIMS; SUES FOR $250,000

New York, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Mae Murray Mdivani, well known motion picture actress, filed a suit for $250,000 damages against the Fox Theater corporation and three other companies in Supreme court today.

The actress charged that she injured her left foot when she stepped on some stage property in an elevator at the Fox theater in Brooklyn on Dec. 1, impairing her ability as a dancer.

The Flatbush Avenue and Nevins Street corporation, Peter Clark, Inc., and the William Fox circuit of theaters are also named as defendants. The actress, who is the wife of Prince Mdivani, broke a bone in her left foot, and now has to wear wider shoes and lower heels, she claims.

She claims that she was injured when she stepped on a box of stage property in an elevator at the Fox theater in Brooklyn on Dec. 1, impairing her ability as a dancer.

The actress was the first Mr. Legge had made in public since his confirmation. He was introduced by F. B. Snyder of Boston, chairman of the board of the meat institute. The delegates to the conference of major utilities had, earlier in the day, listened to a half dozen addresses at the University of Chicago on modern business trends.

Advise Limited Bank Chalmers.
Harry A. Wheeler, vice chairman of the board of the First National bank of Chicago, at the afternoon session, advocated the enactment of legislation that would permit large banks to establish chains in metropolitan areas of cities and in rural territories of natural banking influence. This set-up, he said, would give the public more confidence than it would have in groups formed under the auspices of holding companies, for which no provisions are made in the laws. Chains on a national scale, Mr. Wheeler did not believe should be permitted at present.

Other speakers were E. C. Sains, president of the J. C. Penney company, on chain stores; Mr. Snyder, on the meat business; W. A. Starrett, on the possibilities of buildings going to 100 or more stories in height; L. A. Downs, president of the Illinois Central railroad, and C. W. Cuthell, of the Transcontinental Air Transport.

"There is nothing in the federal farm board act that gives the farmer anything that labor, industry and finance don't have already. Our system has been to pass the costs of high labor on to the man who pays for the job. If it's a building the rent goes up and the man who pays the rent shifts it to somebody else. But finally it's all put on the man who can't pass it any farther—that's the farmer."

"He is handicapped because he is independent and individualistic. Mass production on the huge farm is repugnant to the man who wants his own homestead. We're trying to leave him a producer on a small scale, but with a massed sales agency so he'll have better bargaining power in competition with other industry. He will eventually learn that to produce four bushels of grain and sell it at $1.50 a bushel is better business than raising five bushels and selling it at $1 a bushel. "Flow of goods to the market should be based on what the market has consumed in the past. Organisms that work this way make money. The producer should be able to sell what he wants to and to keep his surplus at home.

Efficiency in Distribution.
"But there is efficiency to be considered. The consumer may have to pay more for some of his products. In St. Paul milk costs the consumer 13 cents a quart; in Chicago it costs 14 cents a quart. Yet the Minnesota farmer gets 30 cents a hundred more for his milk than the Illinois farmer. Obsolete methods of distribution have been done away with at St. Paul.

"Six million cotton growers get less than $300 a year in cash. That sort of thing must pass. I don't know whether we'll succeed in what we are trying to do, but if we don't you'll see progress made in some worse form. The American farmer is not going to be a peasant or a serf. Don't criticize him for his farm bloc. Give him your support now or face more radical measures in the future."

The address was the first Mr. Legge had made in public since his confirmation. He was introduced by F. B. Snyder of Boston, chairman of the board of the meat institute. The delegates to the conference of major utilities had, earlier in the day, listened to a half dozen addresses at the University of Chicago on modern business trends.

IRELAND SMILING AFTER ORDEAL OF BLOOD AND TEARS

Green Isle Stirred to New Life by Liberty.

This is the fifth of a series of articles on the Irish Free State by James O'Donnell Bennett, who recently returned from a visit of several weeks in the new Ireland.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
DUBLIN.—"Women fired on while walking at Mountjoy."

In my walk this morning I encountered those words daubed in white paint on the garden wall of a spacious house at the south end of Fitzwilliam place where it enters Leeson street. They gave me a startled realization of how recently the Irish Free State emerged from civil war and execution. For the words were daubed on the wall only six years ago, when the new state was still fighting for existence and leaders of revolt against it were under sentence of death in Mountjoy prison less than two miles away.

In those days women kin of the condemned prayed outside the prison, creating the peril of further disturbance. Soldiers fired with blank cartridges to disperse the women, by sight and at the risk of life, when sympathizers with the cause of a wholly independent Irish republic gathered in the garden walls with such words as those which still glare wanly at you from the garden wall in peaceful Fitzwilliam place.

Contrasts Confront Tourist.
Within the memory of men still young, the annals of Kilmalham jail, Dublin, dripped with blood and tears. Recently the newspapers announced that the prison had been closed by the issue of a statutory order by Mr. James Fitzgerald-Kennedy, Free State minister for justice. "There is no need to put into it, either rebel or criminal." For the same reason Kilmalham prison has been closed and so has one in Cork.

In 1924 the prison population in the present Free State area—then under British rule—was 1,350; today, under autonomy it is 650. In other words, the Irish seem not to have abused but respected their freedom.

Today the 7,000 strong civic guard, or national police, of the Free State is manned except as to the 250 men in its detective division. It succeeded the Royal Irish constabulary, which was heavily armed, and it is kept unarmed largely as a demonstration that the government relies on the goodwill and good conduct of the people for the preservation of order.

Ireland Sober and Free.
During my two months on the island—months which have taken me into Dublin slums and humble wayside inns—I have seen just one drunken man. The statement seems incredible, for we in America think of the Irish as an extremely libidinous people. The high cost of drink in the Free State undoubtedly has much to do with the decreased consumption of drink. The government has placed a heavy tax on ardent spirits. A line of first rate whisky in a first class bar costs 44 cents, of which 24 cents goes to the government in tax. "It is really providential," said the Roman Catholic bishop of Killarney, Dr. Fogarty, "that the freedom of our country coincided with the extraordinary change towards temperance that has come over our people in the last few years. Freedom would be no good to an intemperate people. Let us thank God for this civilizing transformation."

Clean streets are another evidence of the self-respect which freedom and its responsibilities have engendered. One of the endearments long beloved in Dublin by those who loved the town but saw its faults was "dear old Dublin." Even in the tenement house area, where the interior of the eighteenth century structures is insular beyond description, the streets round about are kept free of litter.

Down Dublin.
A lady comes from England to look after her Irish properties after five years' absence tells me that the clean Dublin of 1929 as compared with the slatternly city of 1924 is the most impressive contrast she has encountered, and during her recent visit here she said, "I will tell you some of the things that have impressed me most in Dublin—the cleanliness of the streets, the fine appearing and competent directors of traffic, and the general appearance of business activity. They are all indicative of the new Ireland."

The city has incomparably better

FITZGERALD FINDS POVERTY ON WANE IN NEW IRELAND

Poverty is disappearing steadily from Ireland as a result of public improvements and cooperative measures inaugurated by the present government régime, it was declared yesterday by Desmond Fitzgerald, Irish minister of defense, speaking before the Chicago Association of Commerce at the Hotel La Salle. "My country owes much to America," he said. "You helped us immensely in influence as well as money during the political upheaval which brought about the formation of the Irish republic."

pavements than Chicago has and St. Stephens Green, an extensive park near the center of the city, presents an appearance on Sunday evenings after it has been thronged all day by children and working people that should make us blush—no litter, no luncheon debris strewn about, no newspapers scattered over the lawns and paths.

Under freedom the deportment of Irish crowds, once so restless and excitable, has become almost sedate. That was evident at the recent annual ceremony of the bestowal of a floral cross on the cenotaph of three founders of the Irish Free State; Arthur Griffith, Michael Collins and Kevin O'Higgins. The waiting outside the gates of Leinster Lawn was long, but there was no clamor or surging, and an Irish official remarked, "A few years ago you couldn't have persuaded a Dublin crowd to wait. They went anywhere they liked."

Coupled with the new respect for order and the new sobriety is a marked increase in thrift. "Pull away and do your work and put money in the bank—that's the only thing to do," says Mrs. Georgegan in Lennox Robinson's "The Whitehead Boy," one of the most popular native comedies in the Abbey theater's repertory, and the line is heartily applauded.

Well; that is what the Irish are doing, and with increased thrift has come increased sense of opportunity and initiative. "Make Ireland a two-armed nation," said the late Arthur Griffith, founder of Sinn Féin, whom many think was the most formidable Irish pamphleteer since Dean Swift—"make her a two-armed nation. Give her a manufacturing arm as well as an agricultural arm. You cannot have freedom without finance, for finance is the essence of freedom."

Old Complexes Vanish.
He might have added that you cannot have vigorous finance without freedom; for, as Dr. Eoin MacNeill said at University college, Dublin, one of the worst effects upon the Irish of the British occupation was "the production of the mentality of 'It can't be done.'" Let George or Edward or Victoria do it became the chronic attitude of the Irish mind. That complex is lifting, and the change means all the difference between a man in business for himself and a reluctant, groveling employee.

The Irish people are beginning to take a vivid interest in such potential sources of wealth as the deep veins of the brick and china clay in the Dublin-Wicklow hills only fifteen miles from the capital.

The government is in touch with an American syndicate which looking into the possibilities of the silver mines in county Limerick. There is vigorous agitation for the development of the oyster fishing industry and for the fostering of the deep sea fishing industry which is so woefully behind the times in the matter of equipment that this sea girl land annually imports nearly a million dollars' worth of fish and shell fish.

In a stirring lecture Dr. MacNeill said that the spirit of the new Ireland had substituted "It can be done" for the ancient "It can't be done," but he added that even that was not enough. "We must have also," he said, "the spirit of 'We mean to do it' and 'We love to do it.'"

Tourists Spend $15,000,000.
County library committees are introducing a book service by motor van for rural districts. Some Dublin enthusiasts are agitating for the purchase by the city of the house in Synge street, where George Bernard Shaw was born and for the fitting of it up as a Shaw museum, largely because it would make another attraction for tourists, who are estimated to have spent fifteen million dollars in the Free State during the twelve months just ending.

Dublin and Cork are introducing a modified city manager system because the old system of administration by a mayor and council was found corrupt and wasteful. Professional mendacity, which as recently as five years ago was one of the shames of Ireland—and is still a nuisance—has been decreased by the simple expedient of giving the persistent offender 14 days in jail and repeating the dose as required.

And so it goes throughout the land—new stirrings, new aspirations, new inventiveness, new impatience of old evils, new self-respect everywhere. And it all comes to pass because the people now have a chance for vigorous self-expression. It is the result of what their serious-minded statesmen call "a freedom that can be instrumented," in other words, a kind of freedom that works.

BARRETT BACKS BOND PLAN FOR SUPERHIGHWAY

Urges Building of Road to Boost West Side.

BY HAL FOUST.

Charles V. Barrett, a member of the board of review and a Republican leader on the west side, last night endorsed the proposed $25,000,000 bond issue for the construction of the Lincoln-Kinzie elevated boulevard.

"The Lincoln park district has spent $15,000,000 and plans to spend $9,000,000 to handle express traffic on its outer boulevard," he pointed out. "The south park district has assumed a burden of $55,000,000 for public improvements."

"The north side and the south side have prospered with the aid of these improvements. Big hotels and apartment buildings have been erected. Business has moved north and south from the loop, into Hyde Park and into the Wilson avenue neighborhood."

"The west side has been lagging behind in improvements which make for a greater and better community. The completion of this highway will relieve the congestion of traffic to a great extent. There will be a large decrease in automobile accidents. Every one knows that transportation is the greatest boon to any community."

"It is my opinion that many additional business houses, factories and commercial enterprises will establish themselves in various places within the west park district immediately after the completion of this highway, because of the availability of the highway for transporting the manufactured products. This, of course, will be a great boon to the west side of Chicago from a commercial standpoint, and from the standpoint of employment for people living in that district."

"World Give Many Jobs. "In the construction of this highway a large number of men will be employed and many jobs will be available to those who are now seeking employment."

"As a conclusion I believe that the taxpayers of the west side should view this both in a practical way and also with considerable civic pride in the development of the greatest side of Chicago, and I believe when this is constructed that its advantages will more than offset any temporary increase in taxes because of its construction."

"It is my opinion that over a period of twenty years, property values contiguous to this particular highway will be increased to a great extent. The increase in the assessed valuation of property as a result thereof will tend to lessen the tax increase which is now contemplated."

French "Tiger" Completely Recovered, Doctor Says

PARIS, Oct. 23.—(P)—Georges Clemenceau, in the opinion of his physicians, has completely recovered from the heart attack which for the last two days caused anxiety. "I consider the cardiac attack as happily ended," said Dr. Laubry. "However, don't ask me to tell you when I expect another. In a man his age I could not venture a prophecy. We advise him to take a rest but he won't quit work on that book of his. That famous book [his memoirs] may play a trick on him in the end."

I. C. PROMISES NEW RANDOLPH DEPOT BY JULY

Council Expected to Pass Plan Today.

A new Illinois Central suburban station at Randolph street will be a completed reality by next July. This promise was made yesterday by Fred L. Thompson, vice president of the railroad. He made the assertion in anticipation of passage today by the city council of amendments to the lake front ordinance of 1915.

Aldermen believe there will be no opposition to passage of the amendments. The council railway terminals committee last week recommended passage of the amendments, which had been in the committee's hands since last May. The amendments clear the way for building of the Randolph street viaduct, the new station, an extension of Wacker drive eastward, and other general improvements in the area in which the Illinois Central proposes to develop its air rights.

Immediate Relief Promised. Immediate relief of congestion at the suburban terminal was promised by Mr. Thompson. D. J. Brumley, chief engineer, has already laid plans for placing three new tracks in the area just north of Randolph street and south of South Water street. Two new platforms and a ticket office will be built, with awnings to protect passengers from the weather, and passengers may walk under cover from the west side of Michigan boulevard through a subway to the platforms.

This new improvement, costing $70,000, will be finished in four weeks, and trains will be running in and out on the new tracks before the end of November, Mr. Thompson said. About 170 trains daily will arrive and depart from the new platforms, effecting a relief in congestion of approximately thirty per cent. The Illinois Central and the South Shore Electric line trains arriving at and departing from Randolph street daily now number 580.

Work on Viaduct Plans. Plans for the viaduct, 125 feet wide, which will furnish a new broad traffic link from Michigan boulevard to Field boulevard, are already being drawn by five engineers, Mr. Thompson revealed. As soon as the amendments are passed the steel structure work will be ordered. Construction on the viaduct probably will start next February and will take perhaps a year. But as soon as the viaduct has been constructed to a distance of approximately 200 feet eastward from Michigan boulevard work on the new station will be started, Mr. Thompson said. The station, costing about $500,000, should be completed in July. The railroad already has spent $1,000,000 on construction work on the site of the terminal.

Indicative of the Illinois Central's desire to make speed, now that the city council is reported ready to pass the amendments, Mr. Thompson said the railroad would not take advantage of the sixty days which it has been given in which to accept or reject the ordinance. The ordinance will be accepted at once, he said.

FINE GAMBLING HOUSES SEIZED. Thirty-two gambling houses frequented by thousands of gamblers were seized yesterday, and gross business of $5 days each in the Lakeview, and five students were fined $25 each yesterday by Municipal Judge Holander in South Chicago court. The cases were an aftermath of a police raid on a resort at 6204 South Chicago avenue last Thursday.

Arrest Alleged Head of Aurora Booze Syndicate Ray Foster, regarded as the head of a large booze syndicate in Aurora, was arrested by prohibition agents yesterday after they had waited for him all Tuesday night in a building at 1031 Dearborn street, Aurora. George Kella was arrested with him. The building housed two 200 gallon stills, 1,500 gallons of whisky mash and thirty gallons of alcohol. Both men will be arraigned before United States Commissioner Walker today.

BANK OF WORLD REJECTS FRENCH WAR DEBT PLAN

Rules Source of Payment
Out of Trust Deed.

(Copyright: 1929: By the New York Times.)
RADEN RADEN, Germany, Oct. 23.—At a plenary session today, the committee organizing the bank for international settlements decided to refer the reparations payment question back to the governments and ultimately to a second Hague conference. This action was taken after the trustee committee, headed by Melvin A. Traylor of Chicago, reported to the full committee that it was unable to reach an agreement.

This decision virtually eliminates from this conference the bitter annuity dispute which seriously threatened to disrupt the negotiations for the formation of an international bank.

Victory for Germany.

It constitutes broadly a success for the German thesis that German reparations payments shall be regulated solely upon the stipulations of the Young plan and further interpretations of the League protocol, as opposed to the French theory that a definite, binding system of payments, should be drawn up, including the smallest details in a legal agreement to be included in a trust deed between the powers and the bank.

Eliminates Germany.

What actually is ordered by the committee is that the trust committee should proceed on a different basis. The sub committee is instructed to eliminate all questions of Germany's relations with the bank from consideration and to draw up a deed which would be an agreement merely between the bank and the creditor powers, which would regulate the bank's administration of funds it receives.

The French acceptance of the course taken today was largely due to the efforts of Mr. Traylor, who urged them to accept the business attitude that such clauses regarding reparations payments had no place in such a thing as a trust deed.

The nations are agreed pretty thoroughly upon the manner in which the reparations payments are to be distributed. The bank will not make debt payments directly to the United States, but will receive sums from Germany and will apportion them to the credit of England, France, Italy and the others in New York. Then England, France, Italy, etc., will order them transferred to the credit of the United States.

BUS CONDUCTORS TO DOLL UP IN NEW UNIFORMS

Bus conductors, whose uniforms in the past have made them resemble everything from messenger boys to army officers, will be distinctive in their dress from now on. The Chicago Motor Coach company announced yesterday that the entire personnel would be garbed in new uniforms of reddish brown within the next few weeks.

William J. Sherwood, assistant general manager of the company, said that, although he had conferred informally with army officers, the complaint that the old olive uniforms of the bus employees resembled that of army officers so closely as to violate military regulations was not responsible for the change. The conferences were held, he said, after the change was decided on, the company having been dissatisfied with the old uniforms.

About 350 conductors have already been outfitted. The uniform is, gold trimmed, with a slouch cap.

THE GREAT CONTRAST.

President Hoover has been the guest of Ohio and Kentucky at the festival of the Ohio river, celebrating the opening of the new waterway which makes an unreliable river one of the great transportation lines of the country. Jubilant celebrants noted the fact that its commerce even now is exceeded only by that of the port of New York and by the cargoes passing through the Soo and is twice that of the Panama canal.

Over a hundred years ago one of the generally confident Roosevelt proved that a steamboat could move against the Ohio current. The river people knew he could get down to New Orleans. A flatboat could do that. A keelboat could be brought back up with poles, sweeps and the cordelle. In 1811 a banquet was given in Louisville similar in its purpose to the meeting at which the President was the guest in the same city Wednesday. The tables were spread on Capt. Roosevelt's new river steamer, the New Orleans, and while the diners were unaware of it the boat left its moorings and the skeptics when they discovered that it was moving found that it was steaming against the current. From that time until now the Ohio river has successfully presented its navigation claims upon federal attention. The political representatives of the states interested in this navigation have been competent. Even when river navigation was decadent, when the old steamers were hulks and when a revival of water traffic seemed hopeless these competent politicians could get money out of the federal government.

The project now completed with its many dams and locks was begun a generation ago when skepticism regarding the return of the waterway as a real economic factor could have been justified. The Ohio river always could get its money from the federal treasury.

The Illinois river was a water course in the opening up of the country to discovery and settlement before the Ohio was available to white men. Its historic uses are known and it has been evident for generations that it is available for a traffic connection between the lakes and the gulf. Its fate has been entirely opposite that of the Ohio river. It still remains an illustration of federal neglect when the Ohio system is presented as an illustration of federal accomplishment.

President Hoover in his Louisville speech said that with the national work on the Ohio completed "we can well turn our minds toward the other great jobs in waterway improvement which lie before us." The lakes to the gulf waterway is a part of his scheme of internal development, it is true, but the central states may also turn their minds to the recognition of the fact that, while the Ohio was being made into a traffic route offering low transportation costs to the industry which can use it, the Illinois waterway was permitted to encounter only opposition—departmental, congressional, judicial and sectional.

The object here is impressive. It presents the Ohio as a completed fact with the President helping to celebrate it and the Illinois in court fighting for even the water which will make it a waterway. Its locks were built by the state taxpayers. The Ohio locks were built by the federal government. The industries of the central states, of the Chicago region and of the Mississippi valley have been left behind in the competition for cheap transportation because the political representation of these states has been unable to make a case in Washington. Even if now the Illinois waterway can win federal support instead of federal opposition the Ohio valley interests have the jump. They are off to their markets with low cost transportation, having had the Illinois waterway up in sectional opposition, critical litigation and expensive construction paid for by the Illinois taxpayers. The whole record is a remarkable exhibit.

THE CASE OF MR. KOGA.

The board of review of the department of labor has determined that Japanese newspaper correspondents may enter this country and remain here indefinitely. The decision was reached in the case of Kimaki Koga, who declined to be admitted as a temporary visitor who would have to have his visa extended from time to time. He appealed from the decision of the immigration authorities in Los Angeles, saying he was entitled to admission as a business man under the terms of the commercial treaty, and this contention has now been sustained.

The decision is a fortunate one. We exclude oriental labor and are justified in doing so by social as well as economic considerations; but the law was never intended to act as a bar to the healthy intellectual contacts provided by the residence here of correspondents from oriental lands. Had any one imagined when the exclusion law was enacted that it could be interpreted as interfering with the activities of such men as Koga, it is certain that the law or the treaty would have made a special exception in their behalf. Fortunately, our relations with Japan have not been adversely affected by this incident. The best thing the people of the United States wish to do is to give offense to the people of Japan. Without in any way weakening our position on the unsustainability of wholesale Japanese immigration, we might well reexamine the law with a view to removing from it any needless assaults upon Japanese national pride. As a matter of fact, we could well afford to admit Japanese on a quota basis, exactly like that applied to citizens of other lands. The number of Japanese admitted would be only a few hundred each year and their admission would remove a possible source of irritation.

TWO SURGEONS ON PROHIBITION.

Dr. Edward Martin of Philadelphia, past president of the American College of Surgeons, and Dr. C. Jeff Miller, president elect, have called public attention to the paradox of prohibition: the law has defeated the purpose for which it was enacted. Prohibition, they find, has checked a powerful tendency toward temperance which was gaining momentum when the eighteenth amendment was adopted.

No reasonable man, we believe, will deny that there was a liquor problem in the United States from the beginning. There was a time when too many men drank too much. Raw spirits was the common drink. Individuals and families suffered. The evil was apparent. Temperance movements sprang up all over the country and, as the distinguished surgeons have testified, these efforts were being crowned with success just at the time when the idea of legal prohibition of all alcoholic drink was conceived. The result has been the death of the movement toward temperance and a futile campaign to prohibit the traffic in a vastly profitable commodity, easily manufactured and not difficult to transport.

Foreigners traveling in this country used to notice the prevalence of the use of chewing tobacco among all classes of the population. They do not notice it today because the habit has yielded pretty generally to the education of public taste. The spittoon which once was a standard item in the American domestic interior is today as rarely seen as the mustache cup. The excessive drinking of whiskey was likewise going out of fashion when the temperance movement was captured by the prohibitionists.

One interesting result is that doctors who in another day said little about the medicinal value of alcohol, because they did not want in any way to encourage its use, now feel free to speak. One of the strongest props of the movement against alcohol has been removed. Thus we find Dr. Martin saying: "Alcohol properly used at or after middle age is a blessing." He can find no harm and much good in a cocktail before dinner and wine with dinner or a highball to overcome chill and fatigue.

The gain of years of temperance agitation and education has been largely lost. Prohibition is an offense in the eyes of those who can see values inherent in the American governmental idea; it should be no less offensive to those who regard temperance and self-discipline as among the major virtues.

MUSSOLINI AND THE ROYAL WEDDING.

Crown Prince Humbert of Italy is in Brussels for a three day visit in connection with his engagement to Princess Marie Jose, but Jay Allen of This Tribune press service cables from Rome that up to now the Italians have not been permitted to read in their own newspapers that a royal match has been made and that a wedding is to take place in Rome in January. The Mussolini government has suppressed that news and if the Italian people know it they have not been informed by news print.

For a friendly populace an engagement is one of the three or four events which can happen to the royal family which can be made of enthusiastic and sympathetic interest. Prince Humbert is regarded as insufficiently impressed by the validity of Il Duce's dictatorship. He has not been permitted to gather acclaim by getting engaged. Mussolini, having suppressed the news of the engagement, may have his future moves watched with interest. He might forbid the wedding. He may be considering the advisability of putting the royal family in a rowboat with a sack of biscuits and a keg of fresh water. Brussels may see that wedding and not Rome.

Editorial of the Day

CHICAGO'S CIVIC THEATER.

[New Orleans Times-Picayune.]

An enormous amount of publicity has been given to Chicago's Civic opera, for the housing of which the tremendous skyscraper on Wacker drive was erected and is being used this year for the first time. The opera undertaking is on a gigantic scale and there is every reason for confidence that, this season at least, it will be a financial success. But little, meanwhile, has been said about a collateral enterprise that will be domiciled also in the Wacker drive super opera house.

In a smaller auditorium of the mighty building there will be held a twelve weeks' season of eight performances a week, entirely devoted to the Shakespearean repertory. Fritz Leibler, recognized as our finest living Shakespearean actor, will head the stock troupe and his company will include such other established players as Tyrone Power, Laurence Codi, Louis Hall, Robert Strauss, Philip Quin, Helen Freeman, Marie Carroll, Virginia Bronson and Dean Farrar.

Rarely in modern times has such a comprehensive, all Shakespearean program been undertaken, and Chicago will be fortunate in having an opportunity to see so much of the master dramatist done by such competent actors in so fine and attractive a setting as the Wacker drive theater is said to afford.

From the stated conditions, we might have feared that the Chicago Civic Shakespeare society, under whose auspices the series is to be presented, would have grown chummy and would have placed its seat prices at all the traffic would bear. Instead, the highest prices for evening performances and Saturday matinees will be $2.50, with the lowest $1.00; and at Wednesday matinees the range will be from 50 cents to $1.00. The prospect is one that should delight Shakespearean admirers and the undertaking should go far to revive interest in the world's greatest playwright.

THE PICKLE PALE.

The worried countenance of the bridegroom dispirited the best man. Tip-toeing up the aisle, he whispered: "What's the matter, Jack? Hae ye lost the ring?" "No," blurted out the unhappy Jack, "the ring's safe 'n' so." But, mon, I've lost me enthusiasm." —London Answers.

CHINESE FIGHT ON OPIUM.

It will be a matter of surprise to many, as it was to the writer, that the Chinese have been and are making such a strenuous effort to prevent the use of opium by their own people, as well as to discontinue growing and selling the drug.

In 1907 the Chinese government entered into an agreement to eliminate the growth, manufacture, sale, and use of opium by Chinese in ten years. There was to be a yearly ten per cent reduction and a final elimination by 1918. Unfortunately, the world was coming in and upon everything. In July, 1908, the government passed laws for the prohibition of opium traffic and use, but again war has intervened.

According to "Opium, a World Problem," the official organ of the National Anti-Opium Association of China: "China stands for absolute prohibition." "She is going to stop growing opium altogether." "Some misinformed foreigners go so far as to say that opium smoking is an incurable habit of the Chinese, but she is going to stop it, too, after February, 1929." "Addicts must give up their smoking habits by this time in one way or another." "Experience teaches us that this is not impossible." "China condemns both the import and export of any kind of opium." "China manufactures no morphine or heroin."

Among the provisions of the officially proclaimed, the Opium Suppression Act and Regulations are the following: "The cultivation, manufacture, transportation, and sale of opium, poppy, morphine, cocaine, and heroin and their derivatives are prohibited with certain exceptions."

Smoking of opium is prohibited. Whatever opium, morphine, cocaine and heroin or other derivatives are required for medical or scientific purposes shall be handled by the government.

The local governments are required to see that no poppy is planted. Each local government is to inspect and control farms during the poppy sprouting season. Any poppies found are to be "uprooted by force," and the person responsible for planting shall be arrested.

Inspectors to prevent the importation and shipping of opiates or their derivatives are provided.

Provision is made for inspection to prevent the sale of drugs.

Provision is made for anti-opium hospitals.

All opium seized under this law is to be burned.

The Chinese plan for the prohibition of opium follows somewhat the same lines as the United States plan for the prohibition of alcoholic beverages. We will watch with interest the effects of the Chinese to enforce this law after peace has been established.

BABY'S BONES DON'T GROW.

Mrs. G. writes: I have a baby with spina bifida. Why is a baby born that way? What can be done for it? My baby was operated on two days after he was born. After the operation he developed hydrocephalus, or a water head. I want to see another baby just like mine. He was also operated on today by a normal way. He is 6 years old, walks, sits, talks and laughs, just like a normal child. Why didn't my baby turn out like that?

My baby also has deformed feet that don't move the way they should. He is 4 months old now. How long can a baby of that kind live? If he does live any length of time will a baby of that sort be able to sit, to understand what's being said to him, to be happy?

Spina bifida results from an insufficient growth of the bones which make up the wall of the spinal canal. Why this happens nobody knows. One way or another it is in importance. Some are never discovered except by accident. Some great industries require it. X-ray diagnosis is the best way to find out. These pictures show some unsuspected spina bifida. The men having them do hard manual labor without trouble.

At the other extreme are the babies with this deformity who live only a few days. Apparently your baby has a bad deformity. The six year old had a lesser one.

WHAT SPASTIC COLIC IS.

A. C. G. writes: What is spastic colic?

REPLY.

A form of colic which the colon is irritable. The irritability is shown by frequent watery movements. Spastic colic is related to mucous colitis. The diet used in treating spastic colic differs radically from those used in simple constipation.

ILLEGAL ENTRY OF ALIENS.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Has a law been passed granting citizenship to aliens who entered this country illegally in 1917? Future R. J.

The act of March 2, 1929, effective July 1, 1929, provides for the inspection by the immigration service of aliens who entered the United States illegally before June 8, 1921, but does not make any provision for aliens who came to the U. S. illegally after that date.

The shop doors are open, music blares in the street with connections running into the shop which operates as late as midnight, sometimes on Sundays. What can be done about this? C. E.

Operator of wedding shop who answered stated to the officers that he would remove the auto truck containing a motor for the operation of drills and other machinery from the street and in the future the shop will be inside his shop. He further stated that he will keep the door of his shop closed and do everything to avoid the noise complaint.

Then he related a La Salle street incident of yesterday. A board marker in a large brokerage house was standing before the large board, chalk inactive in his hand, laughing uproariously. A customer who had just stepped from the cashier's window, where he had left some papers which looked like stock certificates, stepped up to the boy angrily and said, "This is no time to laugh with everybody going broke." Still, the board marker continued his eerie laughter. The poor kid had gone into hysterics from the excitement and was dragged into a quiet room for rest and recovery.

The outlook for tomorrow is "cloudy, with probable storms."

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

OCTOBER 24, 1864.

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—A glorious day for Kansas and Missouri! Kansas has been relieved from martial law. A general battle has been fought and a great victory achieved. Gen. Price's whole rebel army is routed and is retreating rapidly southward. Our cavalry, together with Gen. Pleasanton's command, is in hot pursuit. The battle began early in the morning. Our line was formed five miles south of Kansas City. Skirmishing lasted for several hours, then the whole force advanced. Heavy fighting ensued and the rebels fell back a mile and a half. There an artillery battle was fought, the infantry slowly advancing, and the enemy falling back ten miles. Here Gen. Pleasanton made a grand charge, completely routing the rebels. The militia covered themselves with glory. Not a man faltered. Gens. Blunt, Curtis, and Dietzler and Gov. Carney were constantly at the front. The notorious guerrillas of Todd of Price's force was killed. Gen. Lane's colored battery aliened the rebel battery.

CENTREVILLE, Mich.—E. Wright of Chillicothe, Ill., and Lydia J. Smith, daughter of Hon. P. M. Smith of Centreville, were married on Oct. 18 at the residence of the bride's parents.

CHICAGO—Brig. Gen. John McArthur, late of Gen. Sherman's army, is stopping at the Tremont. He has been ordered to report for duty in Missouri.

LONDON.—The position of Gen. Yule and his British force at Glencoe is causing considerable anxiety. What is not allayed by Lord Wolseley's summary of the situation in the house of commons to the effect that on Oct. 23 23 large columns of Boers were advancing from the north and west, compelling Gen. Yule to fall back from Dundee and concentrate at Glencoe Junction. The operation seemed so vital that it was necessary to leave the wounded at Dundee. Gen. Yule is greatly outnumbered and there is no chance of reinforcing him. Kimberley is still panic-stricken and continues through Cecil Rhodes to call for help, but how it is to be furnished is a puzzle to the war department. The Boers are marching toward Willemshoek in Zululand, and fighting is expected today.

From the ground one can see that the mortar has washed from the joints between the tiles which lie atop the walls of the building. Water entering at these points certainly will not add to the building's safety.

In their own interest, and to allay the fears of the parents of the children who must attend this school, it would seem that the school board should employ an expert on buildings to make a searching examination of the Martha

PARIS.—A sensational dispatch in the Temps says that a serious British defeat is the result of the second battle of Glencoe and that the losses are so great that the English war office is holding back the news until a victory somewhere else will make it more acceptable to the public.

CHICAGO.—It was announced that Miss Henrietta Armstrong and Edward Morrison were married on Oct. 21 at the residence of the bride's brother, William Armstrong, 320 Hampden court.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

OCTOBER 24, 1919.

LONDON.—Lloyd George's government suffered a defeat in the house of commons when its amendment to the alien bill was voted down by 135 to 113, and the country is faced by the possibility of a change of government or dissolution of parliament.

CHICAGO.—The first public appeal for a resort to violence since the steel strike started in Gary was made by "Mother" Jones, aged agitator, who was addressing strike meetings when organized labor was in its swaddling clothes.

WASHINGTON.—The foreign relations committee of the senate added four more reservations to the treaty with Germany, making fourteen in all. Senator Hitchcock reiterated his declaration that the whole treaty would be rejected if the reservations were adopted by the senate.

PHILADELPHIA.—George W. Elkins, financier and philanthropist, died at the Philadelphia Country club from apoplexy with which he was stricken while playing golf.

CHICAGO.—It became known that Harry Stephen Keeler, the writer, and Miss Hazel Virginia Goodwin, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Goodwin, 3530 Robey street, were married on Oct. 11 at St. James church by the Rev. John Timothy Stone.

CRUMBLING SCHOOLHOUSE.
Chicago, Oct. 22.—On Friday the children of the vicinity came home from the Martha Ruggles school with worried faces, telling their parents of big cracks which had appeared in the walls of the structure and asking if they had to return to school Monday. At the insistence of my boy and girl I looked over the outside of the building Sunday morning and saw defects which, even to one ignorant of structural values, would indicate that something was amiss.

Four years ago this beautiful building, with its modern facilities, was hailed as a blessing in a rapidly developing neighborhood, served inadequately by a few portable buildings. True, there were slight errors in the planning which became apparent only with the usage of the school; for example, the insufficiency of drinking fountains. These, however, could, and probably eventually would, be corrected.

Last April a heavy terra cotta ornament on the peak of the roof over the north entrance toppled sideways, due, apparently, to the poor quality of the mortar used. Instead of repairing or entirely removing the tile, a scaffold was built around the doorway, and has stood there ever since as a warning, and that entrance is no longer used. The steps and shoulders leading to the doorway are badly disintegrated.

At either end of the east side of the structure temporary tile walls were placed, apparently as less expensive construction, to be knocked out if later it was found necessary to add wings to the building.

These tile walls are cracked and the outward bulge is apparent to the eye. Part of the south wall has fallen or been pushed out as a precautionary measure, tarpaulins being hung over the opening, and fences have been

NEW MOVES PEP UP WARSHAWSKY FAMILY QUARREL

Appeal Filed in Case Over Use of Name.

Israel Warshawsky, merchant in used cars, junk, and auto accessories at 1915 South State street, yesterday withdrew his contempt of court action against his brother, Abraham Warshawsky, engaged in the same business at 2220 Ogden avenue. The two Warshawskys are having a court battle over the use of the family name. At the same time Attorney James A. O'Callaghan, representing Abraham, filed an appeal in the Appellate court of the case in which Superior Judge Denis E. Sullivan gave a decision favorable to Israel, who claims an exclusive right to the use of Warshawsky as an auto junk and accessory business designation.

The row involves City Collector Morris Eller, father-in-law of Israel, who has an interest in Israel's company. It is said that Eller, foreseeing the end of his political career because of his connection with the April, 1928, primary election terrorism, plans to take an active interest in the company, and establish branches in leading cities.

One Helps Other's Trade.

Abraham is a stumbling block in this plan, because Israel's advertising campaign now under way has brought an increase in Abraham's business, it is said. The appeal records show that Israel is distributing literature throughout the country, while Abraham does no advertising.

The direct cause of the strife is said to be a family quarrel which arose when Abraham broadcast over the radio that his firm was in no way connected with that of his brother at the time Israel provided bonds for the 20th ward benchmen of his father-in-law when indictments were returned against them by the special grand jury. Israel filed a petition for an injunction to restrain his brother from using the family name over his shop.

Asks Contempt Action.

Judge Sullivan issued a modified injunction which held that Abraham might use the name, but must give equal prominence to the fact that he was not connected with his brother. When Abraham erected a sign carrying his name in large illuminated letters while the ordered legend was in smaller unilluminated letters, Israel asked that he be cited for contempt of court.

The appeal case will be heard in the December term of the Appellate court. In waiving the action for contempt, Israel reserved the right to reinstate the action on motion.

LIVE STOCK MEN LAYING PLANS FOR NATIONAL CO-OP

Progress made on the first day of a two day session here yesterday to organize a central sales agency for co-operative live stock producers' agencies is expected to develop today into the appointment of a committee of farm leaders to push the organization to completion.

At the call of Alexander Legge, chairman of the federal farm board, sixty-six representatives of 23 co-operative live stock sales agencies sat in the closed meeting yesterday. Sentiment at the close of the day indicated that all groups at present in competition were anxious to effect a country-wide marketing service that would help to stabilize the live stock industry.

"Officers of 23 co-operative sales agencies, representing 700,000 members who are marketing live stock co-operatively are making substantial progress in the formation of a national co-operative live stock marketing organization," said a statement issued as the meeting adjourned.

At the completion of the organization the federal farm board will ask its officers to recommend names for a commodity advisory committee as provided for under the federal agricultural marketing act. With Mr. Legge yesterday were James C. Stone, vice chairman, who presided over some of the conferences; C. B. Denman, live stock representative, and C. C. Teague, both members of the farm board. William Schilling, dairy member of the board, was expected to arrive today from a meeting he addressed yesterday at Marshfield, Wis.

BILLION DOLLAR RELIEF PLAN FOR GOTHAM TRAFFIC

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—A program for traffic relief in New York City, based upon a survey intended to take care of the city's needs for the next twenty years and involving the expenditure of more than one billion dollars for completion, is outlined in the voluminous report prepared by the engineering firm of Day & Zimmerman, Inc., and ready for submission to Mayor James J. Walker of New York.

The Philadelphia firm was employed to make the survey to aid impartial civic organizations.

The report recommends a comprehensive scheme for the construction of vehicular tunnels, bridges, through and marginal highways, and street widenings and extensions designed to link the five boroughs of the city and to route traffic away from congested areas without slowing it up.

The report recommends several bridge and tunnel projects and highway improvements as urgently necessary and places others in a deferred classification.

In this second group the report places a recommendation for a $200,000,000 vehicular tunnel extending nearly the full length of Manhattan island, with most of its course under 5th avenue, one of the world's most crowded thoroughfares. Also in this class is a $75,000,000 bridge extending from Manhattan at about 10th street across the East river to Brooklyn.

ARMED DEPUTIES AID KANSAS CITY MILK DELIVERY

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 23.—(AP)—Breaking out in new violence today, Kansas City's 17 day milk strike resulted in armed deputy sheriffs being called to guard milk trucks while chamber of commerce officials prepared to attempt arbitration.

A group of twenty men was prevented by three deputies from destroying a load of 570 gallons of milk on a highway near Lone Jack, Mo., after the truck was halted by a barricade. The deputies in a motor car approached and ordered the barricade removed, which was done and the truck continued into Kansas City.

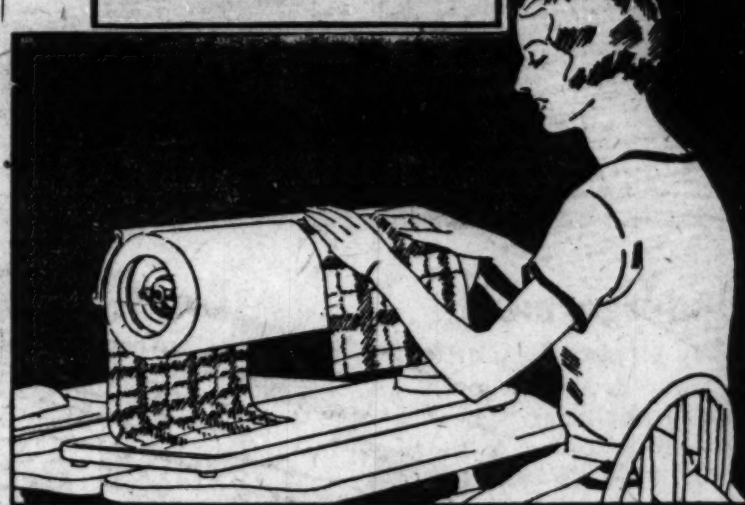

A short time previously the same band of farmers had dumped thirty gallons of milk seized from a truck owned by another Kansas City pasteurization plant.

FALL BRIBERY CASE WILL GO TO JURY TODAY

Both Sides Wind Up Their Arguments.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—The three week long trial of the fall bribery case, charged with accepting bribes from E. I. Doheny, ended this afternoon, and the case, with the court's final instructions, will be given to the jury tomorrow morning.

Earlier in the day it was believed that Justice William H. Taft would deliver the charge to the jury as soon as the defense attorneys had finished their closing arguments for the government. It became known, however, that the justice declined to give the charge to the jury so late in the day for the jurors, in their anxiety to return their verdict, from which they have been separated, might become so fatigued as to be unable to give a considered verdict to escape the night's confinement.

May Draw $200,000 Fine.

Under the law, Fall, if convicted, may be sentenced to a maximum term of five years in the penitentiary and fined as much as $200,000, three times the amount the government charges Doheny paid him for drilling rights in the Elk Hills naval oil reserve.

In contrast to the eloquent oratory of defense counsel who in their closing addresses endeavored to play on the sympathies and emotions of the jury, Mr. Roberts, without raising his voice above a conversational tone, spent two hours in a final marshaling of the government's evidence to prove that the $100,000 passed to Fall by Doheny was a bribe by which the latter secured control of the navy's Elk Hills (California) oil reserve.

Except of "dust thrown to obscure the issue," the facts are, Mr. Roberts argued, that Doheny wanted the Elk Hills reserves and Fall wanted money and both got what they wanted. By the correspondence which passed between them, Mr. Roberts showed, the details of Doheny's acquisition of the reserve were agreed on two days before the oil man's son journeyed to Washington with $100,000 in a "little black bag" for the ex-cabinet member.

Enter Harry Sinclair.

"And don't forget," warned Mr. Roberts, "that at this same time, H. H. Sinclair got a lease on the Teapot Dome reserve in Wyoming and Fall, still wanting money, got $250,000 from him. Accidents like the $100,000 from Doheny might happen, but how about the Sinclair $250,000?"

"It was a beautiful story of Doheny's friendship for Fall born in the New Mexico desert when both were miners picking away for gold, but where is Sinclair? Why isn't he here to tell how he wore his shoes out on the desert with Fall and 'loaded' him $250,000 in fond recollection of the dear departed days?"

Taking the defense points one by one, Mr. Roberts admitted that the navy department may have wanted great oil storage facilities at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, in 1921, but, he added, it was entitled to get them without any "malign influence operating on Fall." The $100,000 payment by Doheny "hung like a sword over Fall's head," the prosecutor declared. "If such a menace as the Japanese war scare conjured up by the defense to explain the 'patriotism' which moved Doheny to build storage tanks at Pearl Harbor in return for valuable oil leases, actually existed, the country, Mr. Roberts insisted, had a right to believe that its defenses would be secured by honest officials and contractors."

Thompson closed his argument by the candid admission that Fall "deliberately lied to the senate as to the source of the $100,000."

DRY LAW POLICY OF WILLEBRANDT HIT BY SENATORS

Agent Misconduct Report
Arouses Ire.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—Methods of prohibition enforcement under the administration of Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, former assistant attorney general, evoked another blast of criticism this afternoon from the Brookhart senatorial subcommittee investigating liquor scandals in South Carolina.

At the close of its hearing the committee sent word to Attorney General William D. Mitchell, asking him to act on "serious and convincing charges" as to the unfitness of J. D. E. Meyer, United States district attorney at Charleston, S. C., to hold office. Meyer previously had testified that he had instructions from Mrs. Willebrandt's office to hire a confessed bootlegger as a dry agent to spy on another agent, suspected of taking bribes.

"Suppressed" Report Found.

The ire of the senators was aroused today when they uncovered a "suppressed" report as to Meyer's misconduct which, apparently, had been pigeonholed at a time when he was one of the government favorites. The report, made by the bureau of investigation, had been turned over to former Assistant Attorney General John Marshall and the attention of Mrs. Willebrandt called to it. It was dug up for Senator Brookhart by Charles P. Sisson, present assistant attorney general.

The report quoted numerous Charleston officials to the effect that Meyer and Mayor Thomas P. Stoney of Charleston, who had law offices together, used their offices to protect a ring of moonshine makers and smugglers, who dumped large quantities of booze into the Charleston district. It also contained charges that Meyer and Stoney sponsored several bootleggers who, in their spare time, acted as dry agents to run down their rivals.

"Do I understand that this report was made to the department of justice and that nothing was done about it?" demanded Senator Kenneth McKellar (Dem., Tenn.).

Pigeonholed, He Says.
"Yes, and it apparently was pigeonholed," replied Chairman Smith W. Brookhart (Rep., Iowa).

"Why, these charges are far more serious than any we have heard yet," McKellar commented. "It should be called to the attention of the department of justice immediately. I don't see why such a report was suppressed."

In order to give the district attorney time to prepare a reply to the charges, the subcommittee adjourned until Friday.

BAR ASSOCIATION FOR LAWFUL LAW ENFORCEMENT

Will Support Hoover in Battling Abuses.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 23.—[U. P.]—The resources of the American Bar association were pledged to President Hoover in "grappling with the alarming disobedience of law, the abuses of law enforcement and the growth of organized crime" by Gurney B. Newlin, president, in his address before the fifty-second annual convention here today.

Approximately 4,000 members, the largest number ever to attend a national convention of the association, heard Newlin combine his pledge with a plea for "enforcement of law through lawful methods."

"No law, however just, can justify lawless enforcement," Newlin said. "The resort to lawlessness in enforcing or seeking to enforce the law is more than casual; in fact, it tends to be habitual. The question reaches the deep foundation of the law upon which the republic is built—salus populi suprema lex."

"It is a tradition of justice that the use of torture in obtaining confessions is contrary to law and cannot be tolerated in a free commonwealth.

"Raiding homes without warrants is a direct violation of the law originating in the magna charta and reaffirmed in the constitution."

"This bar association pledges to work toward the end that all laws may be placed on a parity and one law may not be sacrificed or violated for the purpose of enforcing another."

Seventy Years Young! AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE scorns that ancient prejudice which harshly dictated that age was a limiting factor of usefulness. To-day, old age not only commands respect but demands its place in every walk of life.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so TOASTING—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's toasted"

No Throat Irritation—No Cough.

TUNE IN—The Lucky Strike Dance Orchestra, every Saturday night, over a coast-to-coast network of the N. B. C.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

Friday, October 25

THOUSANDS of radio dealers from all parts of the United States are in Chicago this week attending the Chicago Radio Show. You are only a few hours from Cincinnati, the home of the Crosley Radio Corporation, manufacturers of the finest popular-priced radio sets in the world.

Although you are always welcome to visit the big plants of the Crosley Radio Corporation in Cincinnati, you are especially invited to attend the celebration of the opening of the new eight-story addition now being completed and almost entirely occupied by the company's manufacturing operations, and the new one-story final assembly and shipping building, 600 ft. long, now completed and in full operation.

Come and see these buildings in operation. Come and see six hundred men and women on one floor alone producing about 1,200 Monotrad 30-S chassis every day in this one undivided area. Come and see several other additional areas producing every day a total of nearly 4,000 sets of different types.

Come and see one of the greatest conveyor systems in the world, carrying these sets to the final assembly and shipping area. Come and see the painstaking care used in the production and assembly of every part. A thousand inspectors pass on these sets as they roll through the factory.

Come and see the switching facilities for handling and loading as many as twenty-nine cars at a time. Come and see production facilities which, when completed early in November, will be capable of producing 8,000 sets a day.

Come and see more than 4,800 members of the CROSLEY FAMILY under most pleasant working conditions, happily building the finest perfected Screen Grid radio receiving sets in the field.

Come and see thousands of Dynacoil and Dynacone loud speakers being built, tested and inspected on the long tables laid out for progressive quantity production.

After you have seen all of these things you will understand some of the reasons why it is possible to build in quantities such a marvelously sensitive Screen Grid radio set as the 33-S in its beautiful cabinet at $115. You will understand why all Crosley sets are in such great demand that, in spite of our facilities, it has been impossible for us to take care of this demand. You will realize that we shall soon be able, now that our new plants are in operation, to produce these wonderful sets in still greater quantities.

BRING LOW COST CLINIC PROJECT NEARER REALITY

Laymen and Medics Work Toward Agreement.

Wealthy laymen, heads of the Rosenwald foundation and a group of medical authorities were working yesterday to convert the Public Health Institute into an institution which will fit the ethical rules of the Chicago Medical society.

If they succeed, it was stated, they will promote the recent movement towards providing moderate priced clinical treatment for people of moderate means who are unable to pay for the best and unwilling to bring themselves to accept charity.

Disagree on Advertising.
Because it advertises, contrary to Medical society ethics, the Public Health Institute has been fought by the organized medical profession in Chicago during the eight years of its existence. It continued to grow, however, and newspapers accepted its advertising largely because of the unassailable reputations of its trustees, a group of wealthy laymen.

The new move through which the Rosenwald foundation and these trustees induced seven of Chicago's leading medical men of unquestioned ethical standing to become attached to the institute as an advisory board, is now expected to bring the institution into the ethical sphere.

Doctors Advance Peace Plan.
Dr. Charles B. Reed, president, and Dr. N. S. Davis III, secretary of the Chicago Medical society, following the publication of the new plans for the health institute, laid down several propositions under which possible peace might come between the institute and the society.

"The group of physicians they have induced to become the advisory board for the new Public Health Institute is a group of the highest standing in the profession," Dr. Reed said. "They will, however, have to reconcile the character of the institute's advertising with the rules and ethics of the medical society."

Dr. Davis pointed out that the question of the advertising of the institute is likely to cause trouble for the advisory board.

Quality Medical Advertising.
"The health institute," he said, "advertises as an individual, and that is against medical ethics. The only advertising medical ethics will allow is the dissemination of broad health education, preventive medicine and information of similar character by organized medicine in such a way as to eliminate the individual or the specific organization."

Dr. Walter W. Hamburger, senior attending physician at Michael Reese hospital and professor of medicine at Rush Medical college, one of the medical men named on the advisory board, declared the new health institute is almost bound to become acceptable to the medical society.

"It will be our aim to give in the new institution a service of such high standard and a personnel of such men that it is certain to win the approval of organized medicine," Dr. Hamburger said. "We intend to correct what evils existed in the institute as were open to just criticism of the medical society before."

The health institute, it is stated, will for the present continue to treat only in the field of social diseases.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Too much rich food creates acids which clog the kidney pores so that they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood. Then you get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage, or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin to drink soft water in quantities; also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone can take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby often preventing serious kidney complications.

WARNS FURNACE TENDERS TO KEEP SMOKE IN CHECK

City Won't Ease Ban, Chambers Says.

To counteract an impression that smoke is permitted for six minutes in each hour, Frank A. Chambers, city smoke inspector, announced yesterday that arrests will be made in cases where furnaces are operated in accordance with that belief. Six minutes of smoke are allowed only when the furnace is being cleaned or a new fire is built, he said. Mr. Chambers acted on an agreement reached yesterday by members of the advisory commission which assists the smoke abatement department.

Delay Ordinance Hearing.
Consideration of an ordinance which would require six flat and larger buildings to install automatic stokers, to eliminate smoke caused by careless firing, was put over for a week by the commission. Smaller buildings under this plan would be required to use smokeless coal, which has been adopted by one large railroad.

Installation of automatic stokers and oil burners increased nearly 400 per cent between Jan. 1 and Oct. 1, this year, compared with the number installed during all of 1928, Mr. Chambers said. Members of the commission revealed that in approximately three months there will be no coal burning locomotives along the lake front north of Roosevelt road. Five roundhouses have been equipped with smoke washers and equipment and three more are installing washers.

To Prosecute Violators.
"We are going to work hard on the smoke problem and rid Chicago of its evil effects," said Health Commissioner Kegel, who attended the meeting. "It is a contributory cause of six thousand deaths a year and must be removed. Every violation of the ordinance will be prosecuted vigorously."

SEEK EXPERTS' BOARD TO PASS ON SCHOOL PLANS

Answering criticism of the alleged high cost of construction of new school buildings, a resolution was introduced at yesterday's school board meeting by Trustee Walter H. Brantzenburg, inviting the Western Society of Engineers and the Chicago chapter of the American Institute of Architects to appoint a special committee of experts to cooperate with the board of education. Such an experts' committee would examine all plans and specifications of new school buildings contemplated, cooperating with Paul Gerhardt, school board architect. The resolution, which was referred to the buildings and grounds committee, was interpreted as having been aimed at the recent criticisms of Mrs. W. S. Heffernan, a trustee.

Hulbert, Chicago attorney, on behalf of Carl M. Page, a Chicago inventor. Page charges violation of a contract made on Dec. 14, 1921, whereby Fabyan was to finance the marketing of inventions, including an automobile ignition system, a spark plug adapter, and a new method of distilling petroleum.

THE ROBOT AS AN ENTERTAINER

Is his substitution for real music a success?

If a Mechanical Man played a harp folk would flock to see the curiosity. But few would expect an artistic treat.

And yet, powerful theatrical interests have undertaken to present to the theatre-going public Mechanical Music as a "superior" form of art. The purpose of this advertisement is to invite attention to this attempt and to point out the harm to American culture that may result.

Synchronization of sound with motion pictures has impressed many as a great advance in the cinema field because it has made dialog pictures possible. Taking advantage of this new interest in movies, theatrical powers have sought to go further and introduce a highly profitable economy by substituting Mechanically Synchronized Music for Real Music in theatres.

Mechanical Music takes on no added merit by being synchronized, so it seems fair to say that the "synchronization" exploitation is largely humbug. Nevertheless it is upon the synchronization idea that the attempt to "sell" Mechanical Music is based. Amplified phonograph records could have been used just as effectively years before the synchronization devices were perfected. But a "smoke screen," such as synchronization, was required to lend some sort of scientific color to the substitution.

The cultural menace of this movement to supplant Real Music with the flat, savourless monotony of Mechanical Music becomes apparent upon a moment's thought.

In the first place, success in eliminating flesh and blood artists from the theatre means the eventual corruption of public appreciation of good music, which would be a cultural calamity.

In the second place, reduction of professional musicians to a handful of studio workers would deprive the young of all incentive to develop their talent and to make music their life work.

Machinery is performing great service for mankind. But a Machine is not an artist. The high purpose of Machinery is to save Men and Women from ignoble and soulless labor, not to perform tasks that are only well done by the hands and hearts of gifted humans.

However perfect reproduced music may be made, it must always fall short of establishing a spiritual contact between performer and listener.

America stands today in the front rank of the Musical World. Our great symphony orchestras excel those of Europe in quality of performance as well as in numbers. And the vast majority of these players are American-born, whereas twenty years ago a live American was rare among them. A large share of credit for this condition is due the American Federation of Musicians, which has served to protect and elevate the living standards of working musicians. Our Grand Opera and concert stage lure the world's greatest artists. In the popular music field we have no rivals the world around. America buys each year more musical instruments than all the nations of Europe, demonstrating that our love of music is an active, not a passive, thing.

Against the excellent reasons for preserving and fostering the Art of Music, the destructive advocates of Canned Music can only advance the proposal that there is greater profit for the theatre in eliminating paid musicians.

The dehumanizing of the theatre is scarcely true progress.

FRENCH CABINET CRISIS REACHES DEADLOCK STAGE

Nobody Wants the Job of Succeeding Briand.

BY HENRY WALES.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.) PARIS, Oct. 23.—While former Premier Briand tried to laugh off the bitterness of the political intrigues which unexpectedly brought the downfall of his cabinet last night, President Doumergue set about the task of selecting a new government. M. Briand spent the day hatching at Rambouillet.

In many circles President Doumergue's job is regarded as hopeless, since neither of the parties forming the left or right seems capable of forming a majority which could outlast adroit maneuvering such as torpedoes the cabinet yesterday.

Still, he went to work today, and after receiving the presidents of the senate and chamber of deputies, as is customary in a government crisis, he began to consult the leaders of the various parties.

Seek Return of Briand.
Senator Clementel, president of the senate finance committee, and Lucien Hubert, president of the senate committee of foreign affairs, were the first to visit Elysee palace. Both insisted that M. Briand be recalled to form his fourteenth government, bringing it further to the left than his previous one, which was a hangover of M. Poincaré's union national government.

There seems to be little likelihood, however, that M. Briand will accept. He is tired of seeing his efforts for European peace and final liquidation of the war torpedoed by political intrigues.

In case he stands by his refusal, there is talk here today that M. Paul-Boncour, M. Briand's right hand man at Geneva until recently, might form a left government if he could get his own party—Socialist—to agree.

Socialists Oppose Plan.
The Socialists, who are really not very red, being formed mostly of small bourgeois shopkeepers, are, however, opposed to participation in any cabinet, and it is not likely that M. Paul-Boncour, who is ambitious to become premier, will get very far with his project.

The announcement of the government's overthrow caused consternation throughout France this morning and both the reactionaries and the radicals, whose combined votes last

China Repels Rebels

HANKOW, Oct. 23.—(AP)—With opposing forces estimated at more than 300,000 engaged in the struggle for supremacy in central China, Nationalist government armies today seemed to have gained an advantage against the rebellious troops of Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang, leader of the Kuomintang, or "people's army."

The Nationalists recaptured the city of Yenchow (as shown by arrow) in Honan province, driving the Kuomintang troops northward 35 miles to Hanchow (also shown by arrow). Reinforcements, however, were reported coming from Loyang to aid the revolting Kuomintang faction in its effort to sweep aside the troops of President Chiang Kai-shek and roll southward to the Yangtze river at Hankow.

The battle has lasted several days along two lines of railway—east and west of Cheng-chow, Honan province, and southward of that city.

night beat M. Briand, hastened to shift the responsibility.

The left leaders emphasized that their adverse vote did not mean that they opposed the Young plan or evacuation of the Rhine, which they say they warmly support, while the right wingers exp. lined they never dreamed the government was in danger, but only wished to emphasize their opposition to the Young plan and evacuation of the Rhine.

Two Held for Fatal Attack on Man in Cell
James Kearns, 23 years old, 5716 South Morgan street, and William Feeley, 30 years old, 750 West 44th street, were held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter by a coroner's jury yesterday at an inquest into the death of John Higgins, 40 years old, 630 West 46th street.

Higgins died early yesterday in his home of a fractured skull which was received Saturday night when he was attacked by the two men in a cell at the Stockyards police station.

WATER BOY KING SURRENDERS WITH 1,000 FOLLOWERS

Bows in Defeat to New Afghan Ruler.

KABUL, Afghanistan, Oct. 23.—(AP)—After holding out for nearly a week in the fortress Djebel-Bersat, Bacha Sakao, erstwhile king of Afghanistan and former "water boy of the north," surrendered today with 1,000 loyal adherents to Nadir Khan, Afghanistan's new king, on condition that their lives be spared.

Thus the tumultuous reign of the former water carrier who tasted the sweets of kingship for ten months, after driving King Amanullah from the throne, came to a dramatic close.

All the officials of the late court and cabinet, including Bacha's brother and Solt Husein, governor of Mazar, were granted amnesty immediately by Nadir Khan. The fate of Bacha himself remains in doubt. He and his captured followers have been taken to Kabul.

Nadir Khan has reestablished all the former government officials, reorganizing officials employed by Amanullah. In reply to the congratulations of Amanullah, who is living in exile in Rome, Nadir Khan, who was elected king only last week, telegraphed:

"The era of your government will be engraved in golden letters in the history of Afghanistan. We will follow loyally the path traced by you."

Nadir Khan was formerly a loyal adherent of Amanullah. There is general rejoicing in Afghanistan over the termination of the civil war, which has torn the country asunder for eleven months. All the diplomatic representatives of Afghanistan abroad have sent their congratulations to Nadir Khan, who is expected to resign the country's lost fortunes at home.

Merchants throughout the country are collecting funds to support him.

BERTHA BAUR DEPICTS RUSSIA HARD AT WORK

Believes Greater Part of Propaganda False.

Mrs. Bertha Baur, gave her impressions of Soviet Russia gained on a five-week visit in that country last summer with a party of 100 business men and women of America. In a talk last night in the Palmer house, before the Chicago Society for Cultural Relations with Russia.

She did not state her impressions as to the success or failure of "the great Russian experiment," beyond saying that whether or not it worked, it is the Russian people's high hope.

Believes Propaganda False. "I do believe that much of the propaganda against Russia is false," she said. "I felt safe all the time I was there. The men at the head of the government there are able men, very serious, and well informed. They make no error, they are devoted, which is called a 'cleaning system.' It is that fear of demotion which makes them so serious."

There are no wild children in Russia, she said. Children are valued highly, and no child labor problem is present. Mothers who work may leave their children in nurseries. Women do all sorts of work, sex being no bar she said. In Mrs. Baur's talk she pointed out that the Russian people were "hungry for learning."

Place Hope in Education. "Their food is plentiful, but not varied; their housing facilities are improving; every one is working, and there is a light in their eyes," she said. "They believe sincerely that with education—and engineers—they can get what they want, even though they haven't money."

"There are no luxuries in Russia," Mrs. Baur said. "And salaries are very low. A president of a mining corporation I met received $175 a month, and the engineer of the company $300, which is the highest salary paid."

All Can Go to School. "Museums are crowded every day with young and old," she said. "Children begin going to school very early in the day so that the old people may go later, and the middle aged men and women who work during the day may go at night," she said. "They have put schools in stores and empty buildings for lack of facilities. There is a dearth of teachers. Illiteracy, even among peasants, is decreasing," Mrs. Baur said.

Orchestra Leader Rebukes Gotham Hearers for Hisses. New York, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—A fashionable audience at Carnegie hall was rebuked by Leopold Stokowski, conductor of the Philadelphia Symphony orchestra, last night for hissing a modernistic composition.

The piece was Arnold Schoenberg's latest composition, a set of "Variations." At its conclusion there was some mild applause but considerable more hissing. When the demonstration had died down, Mr. Stokowski told members of the audience, all season subscribers to the orchestra's concerts, that if they did not like his programs they had better stay away.

Two of them have been making regular trips across the border with information concerning the Latvian army. The beggar band will be court-martialed.

PATENT LAWYER SLAIN IN OFFICE; 2 CLIENTS HELD

Confess to Shooting,
Police Declare.

New York, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—A patent lawyer was shot and killed in his office on the ninth floor of 41 Park Row, in the busiest district of lower Manhattan, after an argument with two of his clients.

Because of quick action by the employees in the building, the two clients, Pietro and Leonardo Danna, brothers, were arrested before they had left the ninth floor, although they put up a stiff scuffle. They confessed to the shooting, police said.

Aaron L. Appelbaum, patent attorney, was the man killed. Through his head, as he sat in his chair, a .38 calibre bullet was fired. In Pietro Danna's hand when the brothers were arrested was the police said, a .38 calibre pistol.

The sound of the shots brought office holders in the building peering out their doors and asking questions and the excitement spread to the street. When, less than half an hour after the shooting, Police Commissioner Whelan and a batch of detectives swooped up to the curb in their cars, they had to push their way through a crowd of curious.

The brothers Danna were the inventors of an appliance for riding bicycles. In July 1928, they retained Appelbaum and since then they have been visiting him every week or so. Today, he told them, police said, that their patent had been denied.

They were in his room of the big office—three other lawyers share it with him—only about ten minutes when the shot was fired. A stenographer said she heard loud voices, but did not pay particular attention to them, since the brothers Danna always talked loudly and as volubly as their poor English permitted them.

She said that she had heard Appelbaum cry, "Well, I've done what I can for you"; then a shot was fired.

CONTINUE SURVEY OF LOOP TRAFFIC, PARKING BAN ON

Effects of the Supreme court decision on the parking situation in Chicago's loop were still being surveyed yesterday by assistants in the corporation counsel's office. In the meantime Corporation Counsel Etzelson advised Commissioner of Police Russell to continue the enforcement of the ordinance, which permits passenger vehicles to park for three minutes and trucks for one-half hour. Five assistants in Etzelson's office are working on the decision, and a conference will be held later this week, after which Etzelson will announce his decision. He indicated yesterday that a petition for a rehearing will be filed with the court.

WIGGINS SLAYING JURORS HEAR 42 MEN AND YOUTHS

Score More Witnesses Will Be Called.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Gastonia, N. C., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—An unprecedented number of witnesses were heard today by the Gaston county grand jury in its investigation of the slaying of Ella May Wiggins, communist organizer, by an anti-communist mob last Sept. 14. Forty-two men and boys filed before the jury and a score more will be heard tomorrow morning before the jury makes a report.

The fact that so many witnesses were heard without the jury making a decision in the case, in the opinion of Gastonians, makes it doubtful that any one of the nine men held for manslaughter after a coroner's inquiry will be indicted.

The accused men, all Lenoir Mill employees, are Will Lunsford, Jack Carver, Fred Morrow, Larry Davis, L. M. Sossamon, Troy Jones, W. M. "Old Man" Borders, Horace Wheeler, and Theodore Sims.

Maj. A. R. Bulwinkle, Lenoir Mill attorney, said this afternoon in case any of the nine men were indicted he would press for immediate trial of the Wiggins case.

Solicitor John G. Carpenter said that, while he would prefer to wait until January to try the case in event of the jury finding true bills, he would make no serious objections to an immediate trial.

Many of the witnesses had previously told their stories to Solicitor Carpenter at the coroner's inquest. At that time they drew a picture of a particularly rabid attack on a little party of twenty-two communist textile union members riding along a country road in a truck by a mob of Gastonians.

NEWSPAPER ADS FIND NEW RIVALS NOW, HE SAYS

Newspaper advertising has become an increasingly keen business because of competition with the radio, theater, automobile, and other social interest for the average person's leisure time, P. D. Saylor, president of the Canada Dry Ginger Ale company, said yesterday in an address before a joint session of the Inland Press association and the bureau of advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers' association.

Mr. Saylor said that business expansion has meant the increased use of advertising, with more and more advertisers seeking a share of the readers' limited time. He called upon the newspapers to assist the advertisers by making their displays as attractive as possible to catch the readers' interest.

W. A. Thomson, director of the bureau of advertising, declared that newspaper advertising has grown from $50,000,000 a year in 1913 to $250,000,000 yearly at the present time.

Booze Buyers Criminals Under Proposed Law

Treat buyer and seller equally rough seems to be the latest cry of fighters for prohibition enforcement which not only brings out Wets and Drys into battle array again, but sets up scraps in both camps.

Senator Sheppard of Texas, who fathered the Eighteenth Amendment in the Upper House, would put the word "purchase" into the amended National Prohibition Law in order to make the individual purchaser as guilty as the seller. He agrees with Bishop Cannon's pronouncement that "the time has come to put the buyer and seller on exactly the same footing before the law—as equally hostile to the great purpose of the Eighteenth Amendment, the prohibition of the traffic in intoxicating liquors." The Bishop's views, however, are not wholly acceptable to other prominent Dry leaders as F. Scott MacBride, General Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League; and Dr. Arthur J. Barton, Chairman of the National Committee of that Association, as is shown in special dispatches to "The Literary Digest."

President Henry H. Curran, of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, contends that Senator Sheppard's bill would be unconstitutional "because it goes beyond the intended limits of the Eighteenth Amendment." The public at large will be greatly interested in the leading article in this week's Literary Digest (October 26 number), as it covers comprehensively this new phase of Prohibition enforcement which has stirred the press throughout the country to liveliest discussion.

SENATE TARIFF
SKIRMISH LOST
BY COALITION

Attempt to Lower Calcium Carbide Duty Futile.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—The Democratic-radical coalition in the senate failed today in an attempt to reduce the duty on calcium carbide. Greater importance was attached to the controversy than in the case of the minor chemical item on which the coalition won yesterday and the result demonstrated that a considerable number of Democrats will vote for high duties when their votes really are needed.

An amendment to cut the duty from one cent per pound to one-half of one cent met defeat by a vote of 37 to 42 after a debate of several hours. While 17 Republicans voted for the reduction, which is as large a defection from the majority party as has taken place at any time, 13 Democrats voted with the regular Republicans for the one cent rate.

Copeland Recalls Promises.
The finance committee originally recommended the one-half cent rate but finally reversed itself and supported the one cent rate, the duty provided in the present law and continued in the house bill.
The Democrats who voted for the higher rate were Senators Royal S. Copeland and R. F. Wagner (N. Y.), J. Thomas Heflin and Hugo L. Black (Ala.), J. E. Randell and E. A. Broward (La.), Daniel Stock (La.), Cole Blledge (S. C.), Harry Hawes (Mo.), J. B. Kendrick (Wyo.), Key Pittman (Nev.), W. E. Brock (Tenn.), and Park Trammell (Fla.).

Senator Copeland, who took an active part in the debate, read from Democratic campaign promises made during the last campaign that nothing would be done to disturb industries now receiving protection. The Democrats who voted for maintenance of the present duty justified their votes on that ground.

Norris Assails "Power Trust."
It was brought out that calcium carbide, which is used in the manufacture of gas, is produced at plants in New York, Iowa, Minnesota, Michigan, Alabama, Virginia, and West Virginia. Imports come chiefly from Canada, and it was asserted that if the duty is lowered some of the domestic plants will be moved to Canada, where power costs are cheaper.

Senator George W. Norris (Rep., Neb.) seized the occasion to accuse the "power trust" of maintaining excessive prices for power in this country and asserted that the duty on calcium carbide is in its interest.

The senate reached the controversy over duties on casein, which is one of the major items in which agricultural organizations are interested. Senator Samuel Shortridge (Rep., Cal.) offered an amendment to fix the duty at 8 cents per pound instead of 3 1/2 cents, as recommended by the finance committee, or 2 1/2 cents, as provided in the present law and continued in the house bill.

Paper Makers Oppose Rate.
Dairy interests insist that a higher duty will insure a greatly increased market for casein, which is a product of skimmed milk, used in the coating of paper. The paper manufacturers, who prefer to import Argentine casein, which, they insist, is of a superior quality, are opposed to any increase in duty over the present law.

It is considered possible that a compromise of 5 cents per pound may be approved.
Senator Arthur Capper (Rep., Kas.) announced on the floor today that he intends to vote against all but a few industrial rate increases and charged that the pending bill is a violation of party pledges to the farmers.

FALL FATAL TO MAN, 78.
Timothy Murphy, 78 years old, 4849 West Superior street, died at the Alexian Brothers hospital yesterday of injuries he sustained Oct. 10, when he fell at the home conducted by the Little Sisters of the Poor at 3150 and West Harrison streets.

$75,000 IS USED
TO OPPOSE DUTY ON CUBAN SUGAR

Senate Lobby Committee
Hears New Yorker.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—American interests with Cuban sugar investments have expended $75,000 thus far in opposing an increased duty on sugar. Herbert C. Lakin of New York city, president of the Cuba company, furnished this information today to the senatorial lobby investigating committee. Mr. Lakin said that 11 companies had contributed a total of $95,000, most of them furnishing $10,000 each.

Mr. Lakin said that he is head of a committee representing the American chamber of commerce in Cuba and also has cooperated with activities of the United States Sugar association. Propaganda headquarters have been maintained in Washington, he said, in charge of Mrs. Gladys Moon Jones at a cost of $24,000 thus far.

Confers with Smoot.
While objecting to any increase in the duty on sugar, Mr. Lakin insisted that he did not desire to injure the domestic beet sugar industry and that he had taken part in conferences with Senator Reed Smoot (Rep., Utah), and Stephen Love, president of the United States Beet Sugar Producers' association, in an effort to work out a scheme which would be equitable to all the different groups.

"Do you think that your interests would have been unsafe if you hadn't employed people to represent you here?" asked Senator Cawaway.
"I'm afraid so," replied Mr. Lakin.
"So the business world has come to the conclusion that it has to hire lobbyists?" continued Senator Cawaway.
"My 10 months' experience here has led me to believe so," said Mr. Lakin. "Business interests would be up against it otherwise."

Mr. Lakin said that he hadn't enjoyed the experience and hoped he would never have to do it again. He said he could not be induced to act as a lobbyist for compensation or merely for his own company and had been active in the present situation only because he was urged to do so by others with Cuban investments and also by officials of the Cuban government, including President Machado.

Cuba Asks His Help.
Mr. Lakin said he had been asked by the Cuban government to combat the agitation of American beet sugar interests for a 3 cent duty. Besides maintaining a propaganda bureau in Washington, Mr. Lakin said he had employed the New York law firm of Shattuck, Bangs and Winant. Mr. Shattuck, who was counsel for the sugar equalization board during the war, had worked with Senator Smoot on the preparation of a sliding scale of sugar duties.

Gen. E. H. Crowder, former American ambassador to Cuba and now practicing law in Chicago, also has been in Washington at intervals during the consideration of tariff legislation.

JOBLESS GERMAN SUES EX-KING FOR SHADOWY TITLE

Nurse Tells on Death Bed of Smuggling Royal Babe.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
BERLIN, Oct. 23.—Victor von Horvath, 40 year old clerk, who has been living for the last five months on an unemployed dole, filed action in the Dresden courts today against former King Friedrich August of Saxony for recognition of his claims to the title of the royal house of Wettin as prince of Saxony.

He explains that he would have claimed the kingship if unfortunately the revolution in November, 1918, had not abolished that throne along with many others. His suit was denied immediate hearing because Herr Horvath is penniless and the authorities refuse to grant him pauper dispensation for court fees.

Calls Father Son of King.
His claims rest on the allegation that his father, born in 1854, was the legitimate son of the late King Albert and Queen Carola, born a Swedish princess. It had hitherto been thought that there had been no children of the marriage.

The house law of the house of Wettin has a clause, inserted a century ago, that the first crown prince would have to be educated as a Protestant, whereas the family was Roman Catholic. As the family did not desire a Protestant head, it is alleged that Victor's father's birth was concealed and the baby smuggled out to be taken care of by an old Hungarian nurse, who brought him up, but on her deathbed revealed the swindle. It is a fact that since the insertion of this clause no crown prince has existed in Saxony, the crown always passing on to some one other than the eldest son.

Neighbors Kept in Ignorance.
The pretender lives humbly and quietly in a cellar room in the Berlin working class district of Luisenplatz. Neighbors say that until news of the suit was published today he had never whispered a word of his claim, though he hinted that he belonged to high nobility. He was considered the mystery man of the district.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 23.—(AP)—A war department budget of about $41,000,000 for 1930 was made public today. It will permit maintenance of an army of 60,000. The 1929 budget was for about $72,500,000.

Aviation Notes

The Chicago Association of Commerce yesterday reported that the following traffic was handled at the municipal airport during the first six months of 1929: Plane arrivals and departures, 22,863; passengers carried, 16,046; pounds of mail, 136,432; pounds of express carried, 32,743; visitors at the field, 327, 270.

The department of commerce this week will take over leases to tracts composing the 140 acre Laporte, Ind., airport and begin installation of boundary lights. Next year the government will turn the port back to the city.

Amphibians following the design of the giant Dox flying boat will be made in the United States by the American Dornier company. This was announced yesterday following the formation of the new company Tuesday. In addition to amphibians of the Dox size, smaller craft will be built.

SIMPSON URGES VOTERS APPROVE STREET BONDS

Approval of a bond issue of $18,995,000 to compensate residents along Ashland and Western avenues and La Salle street for property taken by the city for street widenings was urged yesterday by James Simpson, chairman of the Chicago Plan commission. The bond issue, voted by the council, will be on the ballot at the Nov. 5 judicial election.

"The money to be obtained through the issuance of these street improvement bonds will go to pay the property owners for the land and buildings taken or damaged by the improvement," said Mr. Simpson. "It will enable those owners to rehabilitate their properties, place all the buildings back on the new street line, and resume normal business activities."

"Each one of these three great street improvements is a carefully worked out betterment that will prove of great benefit to the city and to every resident. Each can be completed by the time of the century of progress exposition of 1933."

SENATE ORDERS END OF SECRECY ON AIR CRASHES

Calls on Lamont for Facts on Two Mishaps.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Refusal by the department of commerce to make public its records on airplane accidents brought a rebuke from the senate today in the form of a resolution ordering Secretary Robert P. Lamont to submit a statement of the causes of two recent crashes.

One of the accidents occurred at Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 6, when two passengers were killed. The other was the smashup of the Transcontinental Air Transport company air liner at Mount Taylor, N. M., Sept. 3, causing the deaths of eight persons.

The senate adopted the publicity resolution following a committee hearing at which Mr. Lamont and Clarence Young, assistant secretary of commerce, explained that it is the department's policy to keep secret all ground that manufacturers might take legal action against it. Mr. Lamont, however, said he would ask the attorney general for an opinion as to what policy should be followed in the future.

In several recent accident cases in Chicago aviation officials and newspapers have been unable to secure official facts because of the department's secrecy rule.

LOCOMOTIVE KILLS 3.

CARNegie REPORT HITS 8 BIG TEN SCHOOLS
THREE YEAR PROBE INDICTS AMERICAN COLLEGE SYSTEM

THE GUMPS—IT'S UP TO SCOOGIE

MAKES CHARGES OF 'RECRUITING,
SUBSIDIZING'
Lists Institutions Accused.

Authors of Report

THE CARNEGIE FOUNDATION was established by the will of Andrew Carnegie. There are two units. One provides retiring allowances to college professors. The other, the division of educational inquiry, with an endowment of $1,500,000, studies educational problems. Thus the matter of athletics was taken up officially not as an athletic study but as a phase of education in the United States. Altogether 5,000 people cooperated in the college athletics research, some of them only momentarily to the extent of observing some football game, perhaps. The field work was done by the four staff members, Prof. Howard Savage, Harold Bentley, John T. McGovern, and Dean F. Smiley, M. D.

The Carnegie Foundation report from beginning of the investigation to the mailing of bound copies cost something between $50,000 and $100,000.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Eight members of the Western conference, known as the Big Ten, now stand charged with unethical practices in the conduct of their athletic affairs.

The charge of subsidizing and recruiting athletes on which Iowa was drummed out of the western body last spring is laid at the thresholds of Wisconsin, Northwestern, Michigan, Purdue, Minnesota, Ohio State and Indiana. The universities of Illinois and Chicago are declared pure and unsullied, athletically speaking, except for minor offenses.

The above is the gist of that portion of the Carnegie foundation report published today which covers conditions among members of the midwest organization. Other institutions, stretching from Harvard in the east to Southern California in the west are indicted on counts more serious than those laid against Big Ten schools in the three years of investigation.

In brief the Carnegie report involves eight of the Big Ten in the following manner:

INDIANA—Proselyting by alumni.

IOWA—Alumni of own, initiative assisting promising school boys.

MINNESOTA—Supervision of concessions by athletes and employment of athletes as "rubbers" in the training quarters.

MICHIGAN—Athletes subsidized in the guise of bond and clothing salesmen, solicitors of program advertising, and writers. Recruiting by alumni secretaries.

OHIO STATE—Intensive and systematic approach to prep athletes by coaches and managers.

PURDUE—Recruiting and subsidizing by members of the athletic department or by some other individual.

NORTHWESTERN—Coaching appointments governed by alumni groups. Subsidizing with a slush fund. Recruiting by alumni secretaries.

WISCONSIN—Employment of athletes by athletic department. Recruiting by fraternities. Excessive expenditures for coaching.

ILLINOIS ARE "PURE."

Chicago and Illinois were placed among 28 of the 130 schools investigated in which athletic supremacy was not placed above all else. The only mention was in connection with the different ways employed to attract athletes. The mid-way institution, usually through an individual, offered only a good education as an inducement.

Chicago also was mentioned in connection with the finding of employment for athletes. This duty devolves upon those who correspond with athletic prospects. Michigan, Wisconsin and Northwestern in part, followed a similar course. Illinois was found to have given employment but through the college appointments office in the order of application, to be cared for as long as positions remain. Chicago made no great effort to list jobs off the campus.

As against the casual recruiting efforts made by Chicago, the report cited Northwestern, Michigan and Wisconsin of the Big Ten schools as resorting to "an intensely organized, sometimes subtle, system that may utilize or co-ordinate numbers of agents on or off the campus."

Discovers Slush Funds.

Taking up the subject of employment of athletes by the athletic department the report pointed out that 17 athletes at Wisconsin appeared on the athletic department pay roll as rubbers and trainers and that New York university had maintained a corps of athlete employees to take care of a small playing field.

Northwestern's slush fund was discovered to have 16 beneficiaries. Carnegie Tech was charged with 22

BRISK TRADING SEASON LIKELY IN BIG LEAGUESMack Only Manager Who Will Stand Pat.

When Bing Miller touched off the two base hit that ended the recent world series debate between the Macks and Cubs he didn't nail down the lid on baseball for the year. He merely relieved the "magnates and managers of the necessity of worrying or bothering about anything more than the preparations for 1930. And the preparations already are under way. New managers make for brisk trading, and there'll be at least seven new fellows anxious to set some records when the swapping fever breaks out a few weeks hence.

Along the little front of 16 major league clubs there is only one that is not going to show much concern over the possibilities of strengthening by trade. This is the world title outfit over which Connie Mack rules. The veteran pilot will take anything good if he can get it cheap, which he won't. Hence the A's of 1930 will be no different than the team the Cubs couldn't beat.

Cubs Aim to Strengthen.

Despite their lopsided win in the pennant race, the Cub officials are not going to sit back and rest on their laurels. The world series plot aroused Owner Wrigley to a realization that something more is needed to fulfill his ambition, and he has passed the word along to his executives that the pocketbook is open and nobody is looking. The Cubs want a third sacker who can hit and a pitcher. Where they are going to get them is a problem just now, but when the other magnates get a final accounting on a meager season they may be willing to listen to the sound of Wrigley gold.

The Cubs also have some tempting talent to offer along with money. They have an excess number of outstanding fly chasers, and more than one club with a good pitcher or good infielder to spare could use them.

Mr. McGraw, whose Giants didn't do as well as some of his press agents predicted, is anxious about a second sacker and a pitcher. McGraw probably will solve his problems without a great expenditure of mental effort. There is a pretty fair second sacker up at Boston. Freddy Maguire was predicted to be the best. McGraw probably will solve his problems without a great expenditure of mental effort.

Yanks May Turn to Boston.

The Yanks also may turn to Boston with the idea of restoring New York to the pinnacle of the American league, both from a financial and playing standpoint. Ever since the late Harry Frazee ruined the Red Sox and made the Yanks the biggest draw, a regular shute by which players could be skidded out of Boston fanned and into some of Col. Ruppert's haberdashery. This time it might be Pitcher Ruffing, who, while a skilled worker, can't win in his present surroundings.

The American league wants to strengthen its Chicago club, which until the last couple of years was a money maker. The Sox are willing to accept help, but nobody is going to give them a bargain unless they give up something in return.

The officials of the St. Louis Nationals, who have built up an unenviable reputation for a pitching manager, must first pick a new pilot and then they'll probably turn the team inside out. The Cards failed to draw at home last season and something must be done about it. The same holds for the Browns.

QUITS GRID JOB

ENOCH BAGSHAW.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 23.—[U. P.]—The resignation of Enoch Bagshaw as head football coach at the University of Washington tonight was the hands of Earl F. Campbell, graduate manager.

The resignation culminated a two year fight by students and alumni to oust Bagshaw, who came to the university in 1920 after a meteoric career at Everett High school.

When Bagshaw took charge football was in a slump. The first year the team was unsuccessful, but he developed a team that in 1924 lost the coast title only by a fuke to Oregon.

Bagshaw's system was successful until 1927, when Washington began to slip and the students set up a cry for a new coach. The demand was renewed after the 1928 season. Bagshaw refused to resign, however, and finally Dr. M. Lyle Spencer, president of the university, advised the students that they would have to honor his contract.

HERE ARE THREE ROUTES TO THE ILLINOIS GAME

For the benefit of Chicago grid fans who plan to attend the Michigan-Illinois game next Saturday at Champaign, the touring bureau of the Chicago Motor club recommends the following route routes:

There are three main routes to Kankakee. One is Illinois 4 to 4A; 4A to the intersection with Kean avenue; south on Kean avenue to Palos park; west of Palos park to the intersection with Illinois 51; south on 51 and 44 to Kankakee.

Another route is Illinois 50, leaving Chicago via Cicero avenue, south to the intersection with 49 and south on 49 to Kankakee.

The third route is the Dixie highway, leaving Chicago via Western avenue, to Momence and beyond to the intersection with 17 and west on 17 to Kankakee.

The route from Kankakee to Urbana and Champaign is Illinois 25 combined with U. S. 45. The mileage from Chicago to Champaign via Momence is 145. The mileage of the other routes is a trifle less.

M'GINNITY SENT HOME; NO HOPE FOR RECOVERY

New York, Oct. 23.—[Special.]—Joe McGinnity, immortal as the "Iron Man" pitcher of the New York Giants, was reported resting comfortably today in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Marguerite Lappen, in Brooklyn, where he was taken after he was decider by Brooklyn hospital experts that there was no hope for his recovery following an operation for tumor.

DENY 'UNETHICAL
SPORTS' CHARGESOther Big Ten Schools
Add Refutations.

After a hurried study of charges against Northwestern as contained in the Carnegie Foundation report, Kenneth L. Wilson, Purple athletic director, denied categorically almost every instance wherein the Evanston school was unethical in athletic practices. His statement follows:

"Although I have not had opportunity to read the Carnegie Foundation report in detail I feel that a good many of the facts it gives are based on rumor more than on fact. I believe that it is unjust to accept as facts the information that any agent at a university campus."

"They report that the concessions at athletic contests are granted to athletes at Northwestern. The concession privileges are sold to the highest bidder, and for the first three years I was athletic director they were held by Robert Hilton, a student at the University of Chicago, who also ran the concessions at Stag field. He employed very few athletes as sellers because he found that the ordinary baseball park hunter could bring in more business. At the present time the concessions are held by Myron Colman, who employs the concession men from the Cubs' baseball park."

"He does not have a single athlete in his employ. Athletes as well as other students are employed to sell programs, receiving 3 cents per program."

"The statement that coaching appointments are governed by alumni groups at Northwestern is absurd. The coaches are selected by the faculty committee and it alone."

"There is no slush fund at Northwestern for the benefit of our athletes and any charge of that nature is ridiculous. The scholarship and loan funds are administered by a faculty committee under the direction of Prof. Delton Howard. These records are open for inspection. A study of the scholarship and loans held at the university made by the conference last year showed a relatively small percentage of these going to athletes."

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—Director Fielding H. Yost did not know whether to be amused or angry when told tonight that Michigan is a participant in an "intensely organized and sometimes subtle system" for recruiting athletes, according to the Carnegie report in college athletics, issued a statement of emphatic denial.

"I know of no such system of agents operating either on or off the campus to recruit athletes for the University of Michigan," Yost declared.

Pro Coach Not Part of Ideal School

Football coaches are discussed by the Carnegie Foundation report in this way:

"Doubtless an ideal university professional coaching would find no place. Obviously the position of a coach, whose tenure of office depends upon victory is both unfortunate and unfair. A coach who trusts to faculty status and fair words in the hour of disapproval leans upon a broken reed."

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

BY DON MAXWELL.

The report of the Carnegie Foundation, finding all save two of the universities in the Big Ten immersed in unethical athletic waters, guilty of recruiting and subsidizing athletes, places the faculty committee in charge of the conference athletics in an extremely exposed position.

The faculty members may not admit it, but they can't deny it.

For last spring the faculty members of nine of the Big Ten schools announced that much to their sorrow they had learned that the University of Iowa hadn't been doing right. In the attitude of a righteous parent, shocked by the revelation of the waywardness of his son, the faculty members said in effect:

"This hurts us more than it does Iowa, but we must do our duty. Iowa is no longer fit to sit at our table. Go stand in the corner for a while and repent. If you show us you are sorry and promise to reform we'll consider letting you back in the dining room later on."

And the principal charge against the erring Iowa was "recruiting and subsidizing athletes."

It was a shocking charge, a terrible crime, a shocking, disgusting thing, this "recruiting and subsidizing athletes."

The Big Ten couldn't show mercy—the offense was too grave!

In fairness to these stern upholders of athletic ethics, it must be admitted that Iowa made a poor show of denying the charge. Very likely somebody at Iowa, probably the alumni, had been recruiting and subsidizing football players.

And now the situation until the Carnegie report came out this morning. Nine self-righteous members of the Big Ten pointing their fingers at Iowa. Nine universities labelled "clean sports." One of them branded as unfit to associate with them.

And now seven of those universities find themselves in an embarrassing situation.

Northwestern, Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Ohio, Indiana, and Purdue—not one of them included in the list of twenty-eight universities where athletes are not recruited and subsidized.

They called Iowa the black sheep. The Carnegie investigators have discovered a flock of black sheep. Seven Big Ten schools are classed with Iowa. Big Ten athletic leaders are sportsmen. Doesn't sportsmanship dictate this note to Iowa:

"Come back into the conference."

An athletic leader at one of the universities hit by the Carnegie report said last night:

"I'd like to be the first one to ask that Iowa be reinstated. I don't dare to do it. If I did the faculty members would think I was preempting their function. They don't like to be pushed around. But I wish I could do it."

Are the faculty members on the athletic board of control, really that narrow?

Or will they come forward, open the door, and say to Iowa:

"If the rest of us have been doing the same thing, we punished you for doing, come back with us and help us get on the right road, too."

GUS SONNENBERG
BEATS ED LEWIS AND KEEPS TITLE

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—Two butts retained the wrestling championship for Gus Sonnenberg tonight, and one butt nearly lost it in a three fall match with ex-Champion Ed Lewis at the Olympic auditorium.

Gus made a flying butt for Lewis and landed head first in the third round of seats outside the ring. Gus slipped through the ropes and made a headlong dive, knocked Lewis flat, and pinned him almost instantaneously.

GRIFFITH CALLS
CARNegie REPORT
UNFAIR TO BIG 10Cites Condemnation of Wisconsin, Minnesota.

Maj. John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics in the Big Ten (actually the Big Nine since the technical eviction of Iowa), refused last night to bow his head in shame when excerpts from the Carnegie report hitting conference universities were read to him.

He immediately issued an informal statement, without trace of an apologetic note.

"I have not had an opportunity to read the report," Maj. Griffith began, "but judging from the excerpts I don't believe the Carnegie investigators have given a fair picture of Big Ten conditions."

Started Five Years Ago.

"We have nothing to be ashamed of. I think that I am better informed of Big Ten athletic conditions than any investigator for the Carnegie Foundation. And I honestly believe that the Western Intercollegiate conference universities are cleaner in regard to proselyting and subsidizing athletes than are any other ten universities any one may name."

"Five years ago the Big Ten athletic leaders carefully defined recruiting and subsidizing and launched war on outlawed tactics."

"When the Carnegie report relies upon the facts uncovered by an agent in a twenty-four hour visit to a university, it seems to me, that it is evident that the report cannot be always fair to the institution."

"As a specific incident where injustice is done a Big Ten university by the report, I'd cite Wisconsin. The reader of the report is told that seven athletes are employed as sub-rubbers, and the inference is that the athletes are being subsidized. And that isn't true. The Big Ten agrees that employment of athletes is legitimate where payment for labor is made on an hourly basis. That is the basis for remuneration at Wisconsin."

Lauds Minnesota.

"I'm told that Minnesota also is inferentially accused of subsidizing athletes. Frankly, I don't believe there is a cleaner university in the country in its athletic policy than Minnesota."

"Regarding the concessions [sale of athletic programs, etc.] which the report charges to Michigan and Northwestern, these were awarded to the highest bidder. If a non-athlete had bid higher than an athlete, the non-athlete would have received the concession."

"I'm told that the University of Chicago is mentioned as having employed a traveling agent for the solicitation of athletes. The university proper has not employed any such person."

Frais Carry Burden.

As to the charge that fraternities at certain Big Ten universities have been active in proselyting, any one who knows the financial burden carried by the fraternities will not believe that the Wisconsin fraternal orders or those in any other conference school have spent much money subsidizing athletes."

Maj. Griffith closed his defense of the Big Ten by saying:

"I do not wish to belittle the Carnegie report. Undoubtedly it will prove useful. However, if it shows conditions in the Big Ten are comparatively bad, it has not presented the facts."

Their Work Praised

ALONZO STAGG.

GEORGE HUFF.

The conduct of athletics under Stagg at Chicago and Huff at Illinois is praised in Carnegie report.

Here Are a Few
High Lights of
Carnegie Report

High lights in the Carnegie foundation report on American college athletics, wherein many universities are indicted and few praised, include:

1. Revelation of slush funds, one at CARNEGIE TECH totaling $13,000; another at GROVE CITY of $3,000; and a third at LAFAYETTE of $3,000.
2. Disbursement of "pay checks" to leading football performers at WASHINGTON AND JEFFERSON. Later this was modified.
3. Instances where despite the fact that football receipts have reached hundreds of thousands of dollars, as at OHIO STATE and IOWA, games with well established rivals have been abandoned because of financial loss.
4. Special tutoring to keep athletes on the required scholastic plane, as at COLGATE, PENNSYLVANIA, and SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA.
5. Use of fraternity chapters as clearing houses for subsidizing transactions between athletes and alumni, as at IOWA and OHIO STATE.
6. Subsidizing of athletes as insurance and bond salesmen at WISCONSIN, as clothing store clerks at DRAKE and OHIO STATE, as business firm agents at CHICAGO, and as advertising solicitors at MICHIGAN.
7. Expenditure of $41,800 for varsity and freshmen football coaching at eight universities, which include IOWA, OHIO STATE, and WISCONSIN.
8. Salary increase to head football coach at UTAH to hold public's interest in him during a campaign for a new stadium.
9. HARVARD and PRINCETON are listed among schools guilty of unethical athletic practices.
10. An observation that practical competition between small and large universities results in dissatisfaction and dishonesty. One well informed critic writes: "I am firmly convinced that no institution of less than 1,000 male students can compete equally with an institution of 2,000 or more students honestly."

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Indyville, Ind., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—The band here at Purdue is considered nothing short of wicked the way it has been stealing the hearts of the Purdue band's stuff the last few years or so.

The business of spelling out words in march formations for instance, was invented years ago by R. S. Burdick, for several generations of the Old Gold and Black band. Others challenged the claim but everybody here agrees that the professor evolved the scheme of a marching band, before such marching bands as Indiana, for instance, even owned a brass horn.

It was the Purdue band incidentally that was the first to have one of those giant drums that always cause great excitement among freshmen leaders.

Band a Success Before Team.

The band was a success when the Purdue football team wasn't. "Our band can't hit the line, and we haven't a triple threat man on the team, but we've got a triple tongue variety who can tout a mean march," used to be a perennial boast of Purdue football enthusiasts and band leaders.

New Purdue has a great ball club—its dreams of its first conference title in history, but the team has not eclipsed interest in the band. It'll see and hear if you go out to Stag field Saturday when Coach Philan's Bollermakers meet Mr. Stagg's revived Maroons.

Coch Philan has been holding open house, but the maneuvers of Prof. Burdick's charges have been cloaked in secrecy for a week. The professor wants to show some of the copycats something to shoot at, and despite the development of bad weather, he wants to flash some brand new stuff that will knock the fur caps off the freshmen next Saturday.

Then other drill masters have been seen to spill out a word or two. Prof. Burdick will evolve slogans, axioms and even wisecracks, all in formation of human letters. As one Lafayette student put it, the professor next Saturday will make the manufacturer of chicken noodle soup jump into a huge pot of his own soup.

Paid Squad Gets Ready.

If you are a person who has no right in his soul and craves news of the football team you must pause and consider the weather. While Coach Philan drove the Bollermakers out in the rain Tuesday, he didn't have the heart to do it again today.

And when the boys went to the army for an indoor workout, they had the Wednesday afternoon pistol drill in the rain, and the Thursday morning drill in the rain. It is as important that the pistol drill be in as good shape for the pilgrimage to Chicago as it is for the football team.

It didn't say anything when we heard the shooting flies at our fair city. It struck us as a dirty dig that should be reprimanded by civil leaders of Chicago.

Yanovich Still Out.

Miss Joseph Ivan Yanovich, injured last week, was not among the players present, but spent his time on a training table in the training room, having his leg manipulated by Trainer Hann. With Yanovich still out, the missing Philan's first team back field combination is complete. Ralph Welch, Glen Harmer, John White, and Howard Kiesel, the same quartet that worked against the Bears for a short period last Saturday.

It seemed definitely decided tonight that the same line combination that worked against Michigan would be used to try to try its luck against the Maroons forward wall. Bill Mackie and Ed Caraway were at ends; Red Wright and George Van Bibber at tackle; George Stearns and H. J. Buttrick at guards, and Lewis Miller at center.

"Drunkenness Is a Disease and I Can Cure It"

—Ludwig E. Keeley, M. D., D. C.

THE EDITOR of a powerful Chicago Newspaper before his death, challenged this statement of Dr. Keeley that "Drunkenness is a disease and I can cure it." He died. Dr. Keeley to cure the men whom he would send to the Institute. The results were so convincing that, through his great newspaper, he was personally responsible for thousands of men and women taking The Keeley Treatment for Liquor.

Kicking Factor in Illinois Grid Battles with Michigan

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

When football eleven representing Illinois and Michigan clash in the homecoming struggle at Champaign Saturday, the kicking game may be one of the factors in deciding the issue.

Four of the fourteen games played between the two teams have been won by field goal kicking. The Wolverines, with the aid of field goals, won three times, while Illinois took the other on a successful place kick for the point after touchdown. In all these contests punting was the factor which placed the teams within scoring distance.

If Frosty Peters is able to play at quarter back, Illinois will have an expert punter and field goal kicker. Peters will be dangerous anywhere in Michigan territory, while his punting should help to keep the ball in the Maize and Blue part of the field. Peters was hurt in practice Tuesday, and if he is kept out of the game Mills will be in his place.

Peters May Shade Simrall. Simrall, who also plays in quarter back, will do the punting for Michigan. In last Saturday's game with Ohio State, the Wolverine quarter did fairly well, but he must improve to hold his own with Peters.

The duel between the punters will depend upon how cleverly the kicks are covered by the ends and tackles. Coaches are stressing the necessity of tackling going down the field an instant after the ball has been snapped.

Perhaps Coach Zuppke of Illinois or Kipke of Michigan may employ "pinching" tactics when ends of the kicking team run down the field to tackle the receiver. Pinching means to drive the ends of the punting eleven between the defensive ends and half backs, who block simultaneously. This style of play was used by California when the late Andy Smith was head coach and it permitted many long returns of punts.

Passes to Move Secondary. As there is little to choose between the two lines, neither eleven may be able to maintain sustained straight attacks. The forward pass must be used to keep the secondary defense at a distance. It also is a certainty that Illinois will use the short and long passing game.

Unless some unknown weakness is found in the defense of either eleven, it should be an open struggle, providing the field is dry and affords secure footing. There will be double and triple passes back of the scrimmage line. A forward pass may be tacked on such plays, as the passing back of the line will give eligible receivers time to get into the open.

If the straight attack is used, there will be delayed backs in which one or more players are sent into the line in advance of the ball carriers. There also will be fake reverses, while the old spinner plays will not be overlooked. Both coaches will rely upon team play, as neither can boast of a player who is dangerous once the scrimmage line is passed.

All Illini Get Into Plays. Zuppke is considered one of the smartest coaches in the game. He is a strategist and a stickler for fundamentals. He always has had good blocking and tackling eleven. Any team which can tackle and block never will be beaten badly. Illinois' formations generally are executed faultlessly, and there always are eleven men in every play.

Kipke, who is coaching his first year at Michigan, knows a lot of football. He is making the most of the material on hand. Against Ohio State last Saturday the Wolverines gained more ground than the Buckeyes, and lost the ball on downs on Ohio's one foot line after a march of nearly 40 yards. Michigan has some good plays which should gain ground.

The result means so much to each eleven that nothing but a bitterly fought battle should result. Michigan has lost two conference games to Purdue and Ohio State, while Illinois was tied by Iowa.

Michigan has some good plays which should gain ground.

The result means so much to each eleven that nothing but a bitterly fought battle should result. Michigan has lost two conference games to Purdue and Ohio State, while Illinois was tied by Iowa.

Kipke, who is coaching his first year at Michigan, knows a lot of football. He is making the most of the material on hand. Against Ohio State last Saturday the Wolverines gained more ground than the Buckeyes, and lost the ball on downs on Ohio's one foot line after a march of nearly 40 yards. Pape Seeks to Discredit Pro Charges

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 23.—(AP)—Oran Pape, speed boy of the University of Iowa back field, tomorrow will go to his home at Dubuque to attempt to prove that he never played football with the Dubuque Bears, a professional football team.

Fuhrman Accompanies Pape. Confronted today with a charge that he played under the name of "King" in 1925, Pape said he would produce evidence that the man in question was Jesse Graves, former Dubuque university player. John Fuhrman, Iowa reserve guard, who has admitted playing with the Bears in 1925 but denied he received pay for his services, will accompany Pape to Dubuque.

The new charges against the two players, which caused the Hawkeyes eligibility committee to reopen the investigation into their gridiron careers, were made by a player who claimed to have played against them Oct. 21, 1925. They were alleged to have played with the Bears in a game with the Dubuque Cardinals to decide the city championship.

Schary Defends Pape. While newspaper stories of that game and another between the Bears and Elizabeth, Ill., were cited in an effort to show Pape played under the name of "King," Joseph Schary, manager of the Bears, came to the defense of Pape. He told a member of the staff of John L. Griffith, Big Ten athletic commissioner, and E. H. Lauer, Iowa athletic director, that Pape never played with the Bears under his own name and he doubted if he ever played with the Bears under any other.

The same player who made the charges against Pape told Griffith, it was learned today, that Fuhrman played tackle as "Big Boy" for the Bears.

Ohlson, also of Waukegan, was third with 835.

Zero Hour for Duck Hunter Is Here; Get Going!

BY BOB BECKER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Saidora, Ill., Oct. 23.—Mr. Duck Hunter, the zero hour has arrived. You now can come down here into the waterfowl country along the Illinois river and get some great shooting because the big migration of northern waterfowl has been speeded up by the recent northwest. If you haven't made your reservation for a blind, better get busy at once. There are thousands of mallards on hand and hour by hour and day by day they are getting fatter and fatter.

The shooting that we have had here in the marsh where the smartweed stretches away for acre after acre has been 100 per cent. Although the pin-tails yield to the mallards as far as decoying is concerned, who is going to complain when the greenheads swing in over the stool of decoys?

Several times yesterday so many birds were working that we were taken for a ride by bunches which, coming in from the side, sailed in so close that Jack, our springer spaniel retriever, was tempted to stick his head out of the blind and grab a couple out of the air. Once we looked up and saw six mallards within fifteen feet of the blind and not more than 15 feet in the air. Jack's whine of excitement shocked us out of our trance and fast work scored another double.

For this shooting over decoys we are finding that a 3 dram 1 1/2 ounces of number six shot load does the job. Part of the morning we were shooting just three drams of power and one ounce of shot. Apparently if you hold on your bird with accuracy there is no difference in the efficiency of these two loads.

Army and Navy Heads to Confer in Washington. Annapolis, Md., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Rear Admiral Samuel S. Robinson, superintendent of the Naval Academy, has received a letter from Gen. William R. Smith, head of the Military Academy, in which the latter states that he will be in Washington next week for a conference which may lead to a renewal of athletic relations between the service academies.

Badger Coach Rebuilds for Iowa Battle

Madison, Wis., Oct. 23.—[Special.]—A thick blanket of snow over the practice field drove the Wisconsin football squad into the university stock pavilion today as preparations were continued for the Iowa game Saturday. Despite the limitations of the enclosure, the Badgers scrimmaged the freshmen, who used Iowa plays.

Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite shifted Dave Tobias, the squad's only married man, from tackle to left guard to plug the hole left by the injury of three guards in the Notre Dame contest. Tobias went well at the new position and will battle it out with Augie Backus for the honor of starting against the Hawkeyes. Backus, a letter winner last season, was called back from the B squad this week after playing three great games with the reserves.

Thistlethwaite also experimented with his centers, using Moose Kruger, Leighton Ahlberg, Harry Hansen, and Chet Miller. Ahlberg is a goalie on the hockey team and will be in his element Saturday if the present wave of ice and snow continues.

The revamped offense planned for the Iowa engagement is being kept a secret by the coaches, but enough has been revealed in practice to warrant fans expecting radical changes in the attack. It marks the first time in Thistlethwaite's reign here that he has been forced to make over his system in midseason.

Continued rain and snow today indicated that Saturday's game will be played under difficulties. The demand for tickets to the Dad's day attraction has not slackened, however, and between 35,000 and 40,000 fans will view the contest.

GOLF TOUR TO AUSTRALIA.
Walter Hagen and Joe Kirkwood are booked to open their tour of Australia at Auckland Feb. 25.

Have You Ever Had a Mint Julep Shave?

You've heard of shaves being cool; of being smooth; of being refreshing and bracing, but there's only one way to describe a BRISK shave and that's a mint julep shave!

BRISK is "there" because of the things it does on your face. First of all, it lathers instantly and freely in hot or cold water and plenty of lather is the first requirement of a good shave. BRISK absorbs two to three times the amount of water that old fashioned shaving cream does. Hence it makes two to three times the amount of lather—and a lather that stays moist on your face until you finish your shave!

Lubricates the Cutting Strokes. The rich, moistureful lather quickly "cuts" the beard oil and soaks the hair soft for easy, clean cutting. Moreover, it lubricates the cutting stroke of the razor. You know how a bit of soap on a saw eases its passage through a log—well, that's how BRISK smooths the path of the razor. The razor does not "pull" or bump along over your face, but glides sweetly over the skin, cutting down the hair cleanly and closely and almost without effort.

Every stroke of the razor does a clean job. No need to go over and over the same spot and "butcher" your face to get a close shave.

THIS MARKET A PUZZLE...?

..Not when you hold the right key!

Why the most easily analyzed of Metropolitan Markets

Boston a puzzling market? It's the most easily analyzed of all big city markets. Look at Chicago. The A. B. C. reports give total Chicago "City" circulations. But how about the number of papers that go into Oak Park or Englewood? Into other distant sections like Hyde Park, Ravenswood, Norwood and Rogers Parks? The A. B. C. can't give you a breakdown for Chicago. Nor can they for New York City or Philadelphia.

Boston is different. Forty sets of circulation figures. A vivid picture of the newspaper preferences of each of the forty communities that make up Metropolitan Boston.

Here are detailed figures that form the starting point for a practical, usable sales analysis.

Employed in combination with population statistics, and automobile registrations, such figures tell the astute sales manager a great deal about his Boston prospects. Where they live, their buying preferences, their buying ability.

Using newspaper circulation figures as a key, you can readily solve your sales problem in this market, so mistakenly considered a puzzling one.

ON the map a conglomeration of irregular little segments, each segment a separate community. Looks like a puzzling market to analyze. It isn't. You can locate your best prospects with the utmost ease. How many of them... where they live... what newspapers they read... There's a key ready to hand—Boston newspaper circulation figures.

Daily circulation figures? No. There is no workable set of daily figures. Two Boston papers sell advertising space in their morning editions only in combination with evening. Their circulation figures are combined morning and evening totals.

Evening figures, even though it were possible to divorce them from morning totals, would tell little. A large proportion of evening papers are bought downtown, credited by the A. B. C. to Corporate Boston, but actually carried home to the suburbs. Unable to learn where readers live, you can learn little else about them.

On Sunday, and Sunday alone, do circulation figures give a true picture of the home influence of Boston newspapers.

Sunday solves it—

SUNDAY papers are delivered (and credited on the A. B. C. statements) to the suburb where the reader lives. Sunday circulation figures spot the advertiser's prospects, reveal much concerning their buying preferences, their buying power.

You interpose an objection to the rating of Boston newspapers on the basis of Sunday circulation because you are a daily advertiser? You say that Sunday circulation means nothing to you?

Then consider these two highly significant indications of the home influence of Boston newspapers: (1) reader loyalty; (2) department store preference.

Admitting, as you will, that Sunday circulation is home circulation, isn't it obvious that when a newspaper holds its week-day readers practically intact over Sunday, that newspaper is beyond question a home newspaper seven days a week?

Of the three seven-day newspapers carrying most of Boston's local and national advertising, only one—the Globe—holds its group of readers in the Trading Area intact over Sunday; the other two lose one-fifth and one-half respectively.

The Boston department stores' preference for the Daily Globe is clean-cut. A poor fourth in 1920, the Daily Globe advanced to a good first in 1924, and has since constantly opened up its lead. And the Sunday Globe has not suffered. On the contrary, it carries more copy today than at any time in its history, in spite of the amazing growth of the Daily Globe.

And behind it all—

FORCED circulation methods? High-pressure sales tactics? No. Readers are loyal seven days a week, retail advertisers steadily increase their investment in the Globe, for one reason only. The Globe is a home paper. Run through a copy. Turn to any section... Household Department... local news, school news... sport pages... business, political, and social news... Home appeal, you will find, is built into the Globe's every page.

The home strength of Boston newspapers is discussed at greater length in the booklet, "Reaching Buying Power in the Boston Market." Write for a free copy.

VIRGIN ISLANDS ROCKED BY WAR ON U.S. SUGAR TAX

Committee Will Present
Views to Hoover.

BY LEON A. MARSH.
(Chicago Tribune Staff Writer.)
(Copyright, 1929, by The Chicago Tribune.)
ST. THOMAS, Virgin Islands, Oct. 23.—Gov. Waldo Evans and the politicians of the Virgin Islands were locked today in a bitter struggle over a demand that the sugar tax imposed in the islands by the United States be out and that restrictions against the importation of cheap labor from Jamaica and other British islands in the Caribbean be lifted. As a result, Congress will probably hear considerable this winter about the islands which are the recent addition to America's colonial possessions.

The Virgin islands, which were purchased from Denmark in 1917 at the cost of $25,000,000, have considerable importance as a naval base since their acquisition has been governed by naval officers.

Sugar Planters Angry.
Gov. Evans, formerly commandant of Great Lakes naval training station near Chicago, who was appointed governor in January, 1927, has brought down upon himself the wrath of the politicians and sugar planters, because in his report to President Hoover he suggested that owing to the unsatisfactory sugar market, the islands may in time be forced to transform their sugar plantations into cattle ranches. The political leaders announced that a committee would be appointed to present their case at Washington. The press roundly condemned the report of the governor.

Upon the invitation of the chairman of the municipal committee of St. Croix, one of the islands, Gov. Evans addressed the colonial council, when he defended the sugar tax and explained the dangers to the islands of the introduction of cheap foreign labor.

How at Industry.
Gov. Evans pointed out that it was industry that produced the wealth of the islands, and that it was industry that would have to bear the brunt of taxation. If the sugar tax were removed or reduced, he said, the taxes on merchants and property owners would be increased. This would, in turn, result in higher prices and consequent demands for higher wages.

In addition to the sugar tax, Gov. Evans told of an increase in the appropriation for the islands recently granted by congress. The governor said:

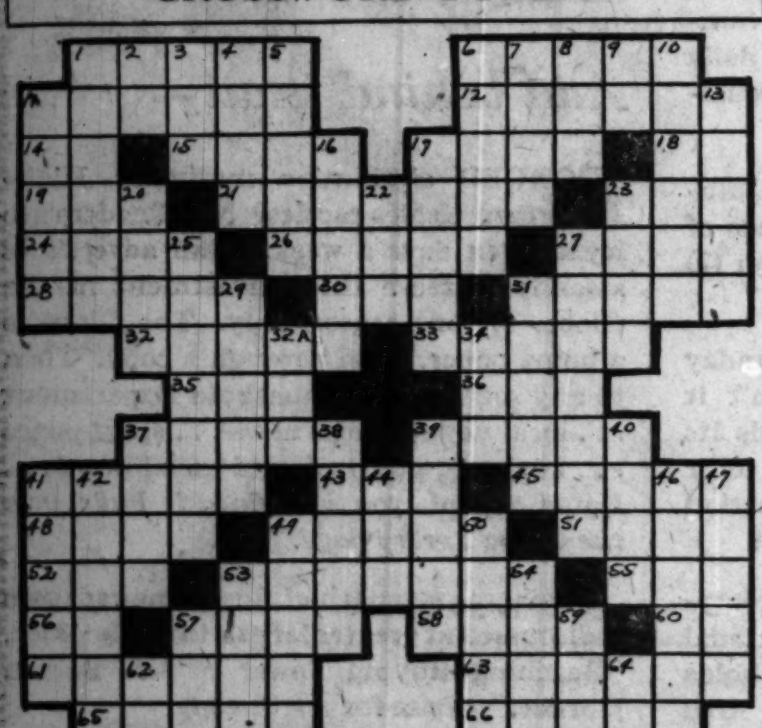

"I was pleased to recommend to congress that an appropriation of $24,000 be made for the current year—the largest in four years—in order that public works, deferred or damaged by the recent hurricane, should be carried out. I feel that congress was most generous in granting such an appropriation in addition to the other grants it has made in the past."

Referring to the committee which will go to Washington, Gov. Evans said that he would make no move to hinder such an action.

"But," he said, "I hope that if they urge a reduction of the sugar tax that they will also speak for the people and suggest where your government may be curtailed. Do you desire less aid for poor? Do you desire less money spent for sanitation and for public works? Do you desire less for education? It will be the duty of your committee to speak for the people, and not for any small minority or any special interest."

COUNSEL CLAIMS $10,000 PAID IN CITY TRUST CASE

Sum Paid to Warder,
State Charges.

New York, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Prosecutor Hiram C. Todd told the jury trying former Superintendent of Banks Frank H. Warder today that the state will introduce direct testimony to prove that Warder received in his own hands, $10,000 sent to him by the late Francesco M. Parrini, founder and president of the defunct City Trust company.

The statement of the prosecutor was made during the opening address of the state at Warder's trial, which began Monday. It was made before a jury selected from a special panel during the first two days of the trial and the state will introduce direct testimony to prove that Warder received in his own hands, $10,000 sent to him by the late Francesco M. Parrini, founder and president of the defunct City Trust company.

Duel Develops.
When the first witness, George W. Egbert, chief examiner of the state banking department, took the stand, the trial developed into what appears to be a lengthy duel between Mr. Todd and James I. Cuff, attorney for Warder.

The prosecutor seeks by introducing evidence that the bank when examined was not in a healthy condition to show that Warder had a reason to wish to keep examiners out of his institution.

The defense, on examination, tried to show there was no reason for the superintendent to believe the City Trust was not all right, so far as his examiners reported. These lines were followed throughout the day while Egbert was on the stand.

Two Charges Made.
Warder is being tried on six indictments which contain two counts, one that he accepted a bribe for abstaining from examining the City Trust company in the early fall of last year and the other that he accepted a gratuity. The difference between the counts is that for the acceptance of a gratuity no motive need be shown.

4 CHILDREN KILLED BY GAS; FATHER IS SOUGHT BY OFFICERS

Hamilton, O., Oct. 23.—(AP)—Four children were found dead in their home here tonight and their father was sought by police on the strength of a mysterious note indicating that he was their slayer. One other child, the mother, Ethel, and the father, were in a critical condition. All of the occupants of the house had breathed escaping gas.

The note found near the bodies also indicated that the father might have contemplated suicide and named three other men as being to blame for the act.

The dead children were: Keith, 5; Leon, 12; Robert, 14; and Paul, 10. The father who is sought is Charles King Sr., 38. The mother and the other child are Mrs. Sarah Ethel King, 31, and Charles Jr., 6. They are in a hospital here.

The note found near the bodies and which police said apparently was written by the father, read as follows:

"To the law: I did this because I had to. I was poor but happy. Some wants to part us. I have insurance to pay expenses. Don't look for me as I leave you with Ethel and the boys. John Cifers, John Cokey, and William Foss caused me to do this."

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Why Worry?

COP ACCUSED IN STORE THEFT IS SUSPENDED

J. E. Frye, a patrolman attached to the East Chicago avenue station, was suspended yesterday by Capt. John Ryan pending investigation of a charge that he instigated the theft of a truck loaded with merchandise from Montgomery Ward & Co. and shared in the loot. The charge was made by Michael Minon, 29 years old, owner of a pool room at 519 West Chicago avenue, after he had been arrested driving a truck loaded with part of the goods.

Frye was on duty at the company's headquarters at Chicago avenue and LaSalle street on Tuesday night when the merchandise, valued at several hundred dollars, was stolen. Minon said Frye asked him to assist in robbing a truck and that he went to the Montgomery Ward & Co. building with two other men whom he did not know. He said Frye watched them as they loaded the goods into Minon's truck and went with them to the poolroom, where they divided the loot. He was arrested as he was driving away from the poolroom.

Frye denied Minon's charges.

WIDEN BREACH IN RELATIONS OF STOCK, GRAMMEN

Board of Trade Proposes Disbarment Measure.

The breach between the Chicago Board of Trade and the Chicago stock exchange over the problem of dual stock listings became wider than ever yesterday.

Directors of the Board of Trade posted Nov. 5 as the day on which members will vote on a proposal to disbar all members who trade in any other exchange in Chicago whose rules prohibit joint members from trading in stocks on the Board of Trade.

Leaders of the grain exchange expressed themselves last night as being discouraged with negotiations for harmony between the two exchanges. After the passage of the retaliatory measures scheduled for Nov. 5, the Board of Trade will seek to find a place in the stock exchange field without further consideration of other bodies, it was stated.

Express Disappointment.

In the meantime, heads of the stock exchange expressed disappointment over the failure of the Board of Trade to agree to a successful solution without disturbing the business of the stock market. They pointed out various steps taken to maintain pleasant relations by changing the rules long in force to save joint members from embarrassment as long as they refrained from trading in stocks on the Board of Trade.

A copy of the agreement on which peace was to be based and which was drawn up by the joint committee found its way out of the archives of the Board of Trade yesterday. This agreement was rejected by the Board of Trade directors after it was presented by its half of the joint committee.

Section one of the agreement states that harmony must prevail between the two exchanges. The second section would cause both exchanges to agree not to list each others' stocks. In addition the stock exchange was to work with the Board of Trade in convincing the heads of the four corporations whose securities are dually listed to ask the stock exchange to strike their issues from the list.

This would be concurred in by the exchange and leave the Board of Trade free to trade in these issues. The stocks are those of Armour & Co., Electric Household Utilities, Quaker Oats, and William Wrigley Jr. company.

Would Strike Out Issues.

In the same proposed joint resolution the stock exchange committee bound itself to cause the governors of the exchange to strike forty other issues from the list and turn them over to the Board of Trade for listing. The loss of these stocks would not hurt the stock exchange to a great extent, as they are now traded in mostly in New York City.

The stocks which the stock exchange proposed to turn over to the Board of Trade, include: American Community Power 6% pfd.; American National Gas; American Steel Foundries, common and pfd.; American T. & T.; Bauman & Co.; Ludwig pfd.; Chicago and North Western; Community Power and Light 6% pfd.; Con- green Hotel; Corn Products Refining; William Fater Crow; pfd.; Cudahy Packing; Deere & Co. pfd.; Derby Oil and Refining; Diamond Match; Dodge Manufacturing; General Laundry Machine; Gimbels Brothers; Hartman corporation; Hupp Motor Car; Illinois Central; Inland Steel; Jaeger Machine; Kansas City Power and Light "B" pfd.; Mountain States Power pfd.; National Bond and Mortgage pfd.; National Bank and Northern States Power; and Oklahoma Gas and Electric.

THE UNION TRUST COMPANY OF PITTSBURGH

Below is given a brief resume of the activities of your Company with particular reference to developments which have taken place during the past year:

We have continued the policy of making investments in diversified fields of activity, thus broadening the basis for our growth, and of maintaining relations with leading enterprises, in Sweden and abroad, with a view to facilitating financing operations incident to large industrial and commercial transactions.

The Company already owns, directly or through its subsidiary holding companies, substantial stock interests in the following enterprises: Swedish Match Company, controlling International Match Corporation and, with its subsidiaries, comprising the largest match manufacturing and distributing organization in the world; Grangesberg Company with its affiliated companies, the largest producer of iron-ore in Europe; real estate companies in Sweden, Germany and France; banks and banking companies in Sweden, France, Germany, Holland, Switzerland and Poland. Among the Company's assets are also large holdings of foreign government bonds.

Kreuger & Toll Company has recently contracted to acquire controlling stock interests in ten companies engaged in the lumber and wood-pulp industries of Northern Sweden. All of these concerns have established businesses and together comprise the largest factor in their field in Sweden, their combined output of pulp representing approximately 30% of the total for the country and their output of sawn lumber, about 15%.

In order that the Company may acquire these interests in the Swedish lumber and wood-pulp industries with Swedish Match Company and International Match Corporation in certain transactions connected with the match industry, it proposes at this time to increase its capital. The proposed increase includes the offering, to the holders of Participating Debentures and Shares of the Company, of rights to subscribe to Kr. 37,916,660 par value additional Participating Debentures and Kr.

10,833,400 par value additional Shares, at a price of more than 400% of par value, and the private sale, at a price substantially in excess of the subscription price, of Kr. 20,000,000 par value additional Participating Debentures and Kr. 166,600 par value additional Shares.

Based on the December 31, 1928 consolidated balance sheet of the Company and its wholly-owned subsidiary holding companies (Swedish American Investment Corporation and N. V. Financier Maatschappij Kreuger & Toll) adjusted to give effect to acquisition of certain assets and issuance of certain securities since that date as well as the present proposed capital increase, total net assets, after deducting all liabilities having priority over the Participating Debentures and Share Capital, are more than $245,000,000.

Consolidated net earnings of the Company and its wholly-owned subsidiary holding companies for the 3 years ended December 31, 1928, before interest on Participating Debentures and after adjustment for intercompany items and dividends on a subsidiary company's preferred stock now retired, are as follows:

Such net earnings for 1928 are equivalent to 60% on the total Kr. 130,000,000 par value Participating Debentures and Share Capital outstanding at the end of that year, or the equivalent of $3.23 per American Certificate. Preliminary figures for the first nine months of 1929 indicate that net earnings are at an annual rate of not less than 67% on the total Kr. 146,250,000 par value Participating Debentures and Share Capital outstanding at the end of that period, or the equivalent of approximately $3.60 per American Certificate.

These earnings do not include any allowance for income from the assets now proposed to be acquired and the foregoing calculation, therefore, includes no adjustment for the additional securities to be issued under the terms of the present proposed increase in capital. The assets now to be acquired will afford new sources of income and will add substantially to the earnings of the Company for the coming year.

LIBERAL BREAK IN COTTON

Cotton met selling from start to finish yesterday. Liverpool cables were lower and closed with a net loss of 3 points and spot sales, 6,000 bales. The short interest was largely reduced on Tuesday's bulge and the market lacked the good buying so conspicuous the previous day.

At the close prices were the lowest, with losses on futures in Chicago 10 to 34 points and in other markets 29 to 44 points.

Bids on December cotton in Chicago due for the day are 18.80c and offers 18.30c. Bids for next week are 100 points under, offers 100 points over the market. On the basis of closing spot prices they were below the level at which some government loans have been made. Prices follow:

GASOLINE ALLEY—CORPUS GIRDS FOR BATTLE

Belgian Marie Says "Yes" to Italy's Humbert

Savoyard Prince Kisses King Albert.

BY ANN SOMERS HOUSE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BRUSSELS, Oct. 23.—A huge but silent crowd welcomed Crown Prince Humbert of Italy at the Brussels station at 9 a. m. today. The prince came officially to win the hand of Princess Marie-Jose of Belgium, blonde and tall, the only daughter of King Albert and Queen Elisabeth.

The engagement was officially announced tonight when the king and queen gave their consent.

None but officials, the press and secret service men was admitted to the station building to see the dark eyed and romantic looking heir to the Italian throne arrive and kiss his future father-in-law, King Albert. Detectives and secret service men were in the majority. A wild disorder resulted as the prince's train pulled up and secret police scrambled for places closest to the prince.

Prince Humbert is far too good looking not to conquer at least the entire feminine half of the Brussels population during his three days' visit here. From certain quarters, moreover, comes word that the prince hasn't any great love for Premier Mussolini, and avoids meeting him. They point out that this morning's cool welcome in the radiant sunshine was therefore unfair to Humbert.

Prince Humbert drove, ten miles, this morning to pay a visit to the former Empress Zita of Austria-Hungary at the exile's castle, Steenokkerzele, but did not find her. Zita, who recently arrived in Belgium with her children to give them a Catholic education, also has quarters in Brussels, and so, in the afternoon, Prince Humbert drove off again and had tea with her at 5 o'clock.

Prince Humbert returned to Laeken for court dinner. His trunks are at the Italian embassy, where the prince and his retinue are staying.

Italian Royal Anniversary.

ROME, Oct. 24.—(AP)—The official Stefani News agency today published a communique saying King Victor Emanuel and Queen Elena were happy to give their consent today, the anniversary of their own marriage, to the engagement of the prince of Piedmont, the crown prince, to Princess Marie Jose of Belgium.

The announcement came too late last night to catch the majority of the population awake, but it gave instant joy to those who received it. The engagement had been expected, but nothing officially was allowed to become known pending the formal announcement.

The morning newspapers hastened to gather material for their early editions, for thus far the Italian newspapers had not published a hint or suggestion of the engagement.

PATOU SAYS AMERICAN WOMEN LOOK WELL
WITH SHORT SKIRTS

WITH SHORT SKIRTS.

BY HENRY WALES.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

[Copyright 1938 by The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Oct. 25.—"American women's long, slender, and well shaped legs are responsible for the short skirt styles which have swept over the world," says Jean Patou in an interview to-day in explaining his war for long dresses.

"For fifteen years the French women have been trying to disguise themselves as Americans," he said.

"American women have as marked characteristics long legs. Latin women, on the contrary, generally have short, stout, round calves—hips often too large."

The Latin corresponded perhaps more to the academic canons of antique art, but not so much to the modern views of beauty.

"The Latin women blindly followed the Americans, and as a result since the war there have been no really chic French women."

In explaining the longer skirts M. Patou said: "Because I love women I want to make them capable of charming the males."

"But what can one desire? With the extreme models women have revealed so much."

"But the men love mystery."

(Registered U. S. Patent Office.)

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

Every detail of this chic dress is planned to carry out vertical lines, that aid to looking slender. The surplice closing breaks the width through the bodice, while the collar that reaches to the waistline at the left side carries the eye down to the vertical line in the skirt in the jabot drape that flutters only when the wearer moves. Cluster plaits at the right side provide the necessary fullness to the hem and the crushed circle holds in the surplus fullness. Black crepe satin, crepe Elizabeth, and georgette crepe are suitable materials.

The pattern, 2935, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years, and 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3 1/2 yards of 40 inch material, with 1/4 yard of 27 inch contrasting.

Bows Are Varied But Always Present

BY LOLITA.

NEW YORK.—(Special Correspondence.)—Instead of furbelows why not abbreviate? Our own proposed cable address would be fur bows. Why? Because these are today so much in the picture. Both hats and gowns are apt to top off with some saucy bow of felt. For example, one saw on the same day at Belmont Park a brown felt hat finished at the back with a bow of summer ermine and a green ermine frill with a fisher necktie accented by a bow of ermine tails placed on the side of the fichu.

Of course, these same saucy and unexpected bows are not confined to fur. Evidence of this fact is supplied by the above sketch, showing how a part bow of black patent leather may supply just the right touch for a tailored frock of black and white striped tweed. This smart costume was designed by Paton and it is made with those consummate details of chic which we expect from this eminent couturier. Black bone buttons applied to the geometric openings back and front, a smashing asymmetric rever, flat plaits on the lower section of the skirt and a wide black patent leather belt—these are the various elements in its style total.

The fur bow is, of course, only one manifestation of a season seemingly intent upon trimming every type of millinery and frock with some touch of felt. In a single day one noted the following costumes to prove this point: A stunning black afternoon model of black panne velvet made on princess lines and relieved by an economical collar—lying in a bow in front—of white caracul. A brown canton crepe frock with collar—also terminating in a bow—of eggshell galyak. Last, the famous Molyneux model of black crepe with black Persian lamb applied to the bodice in such a way as to emphasize the square cut front of the neckline.

Borden, Pirie Are Engaged

BY THALIA

The engagement of Miss Mary Elizabeth Borden, daughter of Mrs. Borden of 1628 Lake Shore drive, to Robert S. Pirie, son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Borden, was announced yesterday by Mrs. Borden. Miss Borden, who was born in Chicago and Lake Forest, was educated at St. Timothy's school in Chicago, and also at the University of Chicago. She made her debut last year before the marriage of her sister, the former Ellen Borden, to Alfred E. Stevenson, and has been active in the affairs of the city.

Miss Borden has had an education of the highest order. She was in the first class at the University of Chicago, where she was a member of the Phi Kappa Phi honor society. She was also a member of the Alpha Phi Omega service organization. She is now a resident of the Borden family home at 1628 Lake Shore drive.

Mr. Pirie is a son of the late John T. Borden, who was a prominent businessman and a member of the Chicago board of aldermen. He is now a resident of the Borden family home at 1628 Lake Shore drive.

The engagement was announced by Mrs. Borden in a letter to her friends. She wrote that the couple were engaged to be married in the spring of 1930. The wedding will be held at the Borden family home at 1628 Lake Shore drive.

Illinois W. C. T. U. Chief Hails Dry Law as Drastic, Benign

Danville, Ill., Oct. 23.—(P)—Miss Helen L. Hood, Chicago, president of the Illinois Women's Christian Temperance union, opened its fifty-fifth annual convention here today with a defense of prohibition denying lawlessness is greater now than in the old saloon days. Quoting from Illinois history, Miss Hood showed that a brewery operated illegally during the days of the territorial government and that in 1822 the legislators in Springfield celebrated with a wild procession of liquor and torchlights. In the same era, she said, prominent church and Sunday school figures were makers and distributors of stills and alcoholic liquors. "The adoption of the 18th amendment was the most drastic bit of legislation in history," Miss Hood declared. "The work of the W. C. T. U. in educating people to the advantages of prohibition is the greatest lever we have to overcome prejudice and lawlessness. One way to find out the truth is to make comparisons." Miss Hood touched on the crime problem in Chicago by quoting from a survey made in 1914. This survey purported to show that 14,000 women and girls frequented the 446 saloons in that city daily.

Mercolized Wax Keeps Skin Young

Do you know that just beneath that oiled, discolored, faded or aged complexion is one fair to look upon? Nature causes the normal skin to peel off in tiny, unseen, flour-like particles, a little each day, renewing the complexion of youth naturally, but there comes a time when this skin shedding slows up. Worry, overwork, sickness, inactivity are reasons that cause the face to be blotchy, discolored, pimply and old looking. The thing to do, if you wish to look young, is to use Mercolized Wax. Get an ounce at any drug store or beauty counter and use as directed. It gently but surely peels away the outer scarf skin, removing freckles, pimples, blackheads or a muddy complexion. The underlying skin, now in evidence, is clear, pink, fresh and velvety, and the entire face looks years younger. Mercolized Wax brings out the hidden beauty. By thousands of women who know the importance of beautiful hands. And so inexpensive, too; you need use such a small amount each time that the 50 cent tube really costs less than most other preparations.

... lovely YOUNG HANDS ... overnight

NO matter how red and worn your hands now... they can be made soft, smooth and lovely overnight by an amazing new and specialized cream beauty scientists have developed for the hands—different from anything you have ever used before. Not the ordinary cold cream, lotion or vanishing cream. It is THINC Hand Creme (pronounced "think"). Takes only a few seconds to apply, and you can actually see it do its work. Approved by Good Housekeeping and by thousands of women who know the importance of beautiful hands. And so inexpensive, too; you need use such a small amount each time that the 50 cent tube really costs less than most other preparations.

Try THINC tonight. At any good drug store or toilet goods counter.

Asks Evanston North-South Streets for Through Cars

A proposal that all north and south streets in Evanston be designated as through streets was made yesterday by Ald. William H. Knapp in a letter to Ald. Augustus Knight, chairman of the Evanston council's police committee. Of the east and west streets he suggested that only those that are arterial highways be made through streets. Ald. Knapp pointed out that a large number of suburbanites drive through Evanston on the north and south streets, ignoring traffic regulations and using the streets as through streets regardless of whether they are so designated.

Wife Finds Missing False Teeth After X-Ray Fails

Ralph Cagle, 38 year old cosmetician, thought he had swallowed his false teeth. Doctors X-rayed successively his throat, his esophagus and his stomach, but no false teeth were located. The patient was in convulsions. Mrs. Cagle then walked into the room bearing the missing teeth and said he had dropped them when seized with a brief illness. The convulsions ceased.

Great National Variety Found Among Troops of Girl Scouts Here

There is no organization more comprehensive than the Chicago Girl Scouts for whom friends are this morning attempting to raise $100,000 to carry on their work in the city. That was pointed out yesterday by Miss Elizabeth G. Baker, commissioner of the Chicago council, at a meeting in the headquarters at 225 North Michigan avenue.

To prove her statement, Miss Baker called attention to troop No. 2, 1903, 2014 Millard avenue, of which Genevieve Miller is the captain. In this troop of 22 girls 14 nationalities are represented. Among other troops in the city, made up of pages in the Harcourt and Savings bank, said to be the first group ever organized in a business house. The membership is all girls between the ages of 15 and 17 years.

The fact that a request has come to the Girl Scout troop among the Chinese girls of the city is just one more indication of the continual expansion of Girl Scouting in the city. That is why every possible effort must be put forth this week to reach the $100,000 goal. We are asking every one to "Be a good scout for the Girl Scouts."

Today officials and workers will hold a luncheon at the Woman's City club, 200 North Michigan avenue, to report on the progress of the campaign which opened last Monday and will continue the rest of the week.

Red Cross Expecting Record Number of Helpers

More volunteer workers than ever before will help with the annual roll call of the American Red Cross from tomorrow day to Thanksgiving. In addition to the Chicago chapter, additional workers daily are offering their services. Additional chairmen to lead trade groups announced yesterday include Charles E. Dwyer, advertising agencies; L. C. Harbison, II, bankers; and William F. Juerken, wholesale jewelers. Other heads of department stores: Dr. Frank J. High, hospitals and physicians; F. O. Webster, railroads; and George J. Steel, steel industries.

Ads Emphasize Personal Hygiene in Vain, It Seems

I am requested to speak to girls on matters of personal hygiene. The request, which comes frequently, this time is made by a worker in an office with nine other young women and nearly as many men. And the complaint shows no more mercy toward the neglected members of the other sex than those in her own.

It's never a pleasant topic, really. And because we have at our command today for the asking so much free information on bodily hygiene, it seems to be the one topic that might reasonably be avoided in print. However, from the reports it is obvious that the simple business of bathing is not the universal practice it should be. And it is too bad that girls will spend their money on rouge, lipsticks, creams, and marcel to make themselves more attractive, yet repel because of their inattention to the greatest attractiveness of all, personal cleanliness.

It isn't only infrequency of bathing and shampooing the hair that are complained of, but there are the additional items of odors and perspiration. Perspiration odors may cause even where there is strict cleanliness and daily bathing, but where it occurs in conjunction with uncleanliness—well, the individual deserves the ostracism she is working for.

Even the odor of perspiration may be subdued and in time entirely eliminated by observance of the rules of health governing its elimination. And in the meantime there are any number of good deodorants available at comparatively small prices.

It isn't too difficult to find that there has to be tended in the interests of one's social acceptance. Many of the unpleasant breath and body odors arise from no other cause than constipation. And surely no one in this day and age is unfamiliar with some good remedy for the condition.

Even though one walked alone, worked alone, and lived alone, she would still owe it to herself to be an agreeable companion. But when one is forced into close confinement with other workers the debt to self is greater, since the offense is so unpar-

Braised Lamb Shoulder.

Many years ago a recipe for pot roasted lamb shoulder, which is braised lamb shoulder, was printed in this column. A few days later I met a friend who told me she read the recipe on the morning of its appearance, went to her butcher soon afterward, but she could not obtain this piece of meat. There had been a run of it that morning. She found this true in several other butcher shops. Probably the reason for it was that it was an economical meat and thought they would try it out.

To do this piece of work on a small scale, get a two and a half pound piece of lamb shoulder, trim and skin this, and wipe any spots that are not made immaculate by this treatment. Remove the blade bone and any parts of the bony joint, using the fingers as often as the knife in removing both bones and skin. The bones can be used for mutton broth. After the meat is boned fold the ends together, tie in a nice roll with a piece of scalded string. Put two tablespoons of dried out suet or lard in the kettle, or three tablespoons of salt pork fat will give perhaps the best flavor. Roll the meat in two tablespoons of lightly seasoned flour and rub this in evenly, then put it into the pot and sear it about six minutes to a side, not neglecting the ends.

Peel and slice two medium onions, scrape and slice two or three carrots, cut fine three nice stems of celery, or use dried or fresh celery leaves. To this list of seasoning you may also add some parsley and some green pepper. To give the little fruity taste which is so excellent with meat it is right to add a slice of lemon and a bit of preserved ginger. These seem to help to make a wonderful blend of flavors.

Take up the seared meat on a plate, put the prepared vegetables in the kettle with two teaspoons of sugar, stir them about five minutes, and then put the meat on top of them. Rinse off the plate on which the meat rested with a tablespoon of water and add that. This, with the fat and the vegetable juices, makes a good basting liquid. Baste several times during the cooking, add salt fifteen minutes before the meat is done.

Every Smoker has Halitosis

Continued smoking is bound to leave its mark on your breath. Don't wait for a true friend's unconscious aversion to reveal this unpleasant truth. Nicotine is an oil which permeates your breath with a stale-tobacco odor. Ordinary methods are ineffective because this oil is an acid oil, and you must neutralize the acid.

Even the heaviest smoker can know that his breath is sweet and pure by adopting a simple morning routine. The first thing upon arising, before you even start to dress, look at your tongue. A coated tongue not only means an unpleasant breath, but it is nature's warning that your stomach is upset. It is the forerunner of indigestion, a sick headache, or a sour acid stomach.

Neutralize the excess acid by chewing a dainty wafer after smoking. Then you can be calmly confident that your breath is beyond reproach. All druggists carry Milnesia Wafers at 60c a package and the vest pocket package at 20c.

Look at your tongue every morning

MILNESIA WAFERS

Dry Milk of Magnesia

NOTE: The reason why modern physicians prescribe MILNESIA WAFERS in place of the old style milk of magnesia is because these wafers are pure concentrated milk of magnesia undiluted with water. It is found more effective because it comes in more direct contact with the acid condition of the stomach when in concentrated form. That's why it is effective instantly when used for unpleasant breath, sour stomach, sick headache, indigestion, biliousness and constipation.
